EASTERN DISPATCHES.

The Report of the Colorado Tragedy Proves a Hoax.

PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRATS IN CONVENTION.

Another Damaging Statement Against General Crook—Marriage of Osmond Tearle, the Actor—The Hill Investigation.

The President's Triumphal Trip.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—[Special.]—The journey of President Arthur has thus far been of a triumphant nature. The special train of four private cars and a parlor car bearing the presidential party left Washington at 4 o'clock Monday morning, the president and cabinet occupying the central car. White Sulphur Springs, Virginia, the first stopping place, was reached after a pleasant ride of seven hours. While walking beneath the trees here, the president was approached by a tall, unkempt native, who wore his pantaloons in his boots and a stock hat perched sideways over one ear, who galloped at full tilt towards the president, and reared back his horse upon its haunches from the chief magistrate, and with a [illegible] explained, "Be you the president of these United States?" His excellency bowed. "Then, sir, I am glad to get a look at you. From your appearance I would like you, and I bid you welcome to this soil, sah. I dessah by G—d, sa," and with a wave of his old hat and a roll of his yellow eyes he was off as swiftly as he had come. At Lexington, Kentucky, the next halt was called, when, through the crowd that encircled the depot, Senator Beck and General Preston forced their way to the front and bid the president welcome, and carried him off in triumph to the hotel, where an informal reception was held, after which carriages were called and the party drove out of town three miles to Ashland, the home of Henry Clay. Mrs. Wickliffe Preston, the only lady whom the party met, did the honors. At Ashland Major Dowan tendered lunch and refreshed his guests. Here the party again boarded the train, when a reception committee from Louisville were introduced. The reception of the president in Louisville was a particularly hearty one. The president was, it seems, attacked by a miscreant who hurled a stone through the window of the car in which he was riding while en route to Louisville. He was not much disturbed, as according to the best obtainable story of the occurrence the missile crashed through the car only a few feet from where he was standing.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—President Arthur and party are expected to be here to-morrow forenoon. A committee of citizens will meet the president's party outside the city, and a reception will be tendered the president at the rooms of the Union League club in the evening. The First brigade of state troops will serve as an escort from the railway depot to the hotel on the arrival of the president.

The Great Strike.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The situation of the telegraphic strike is about the same. There are rumors that an important movement will soon occur on the part of the strikers but nothing can be learned regarding it. Business is apparently going smoothly at the Western Union. All the operators were paid off yesterday, and are at work this morning. Strikers who desire money were paid off by the brotherhood to-day. Word was received at police headquarters at noon to-day that a number of striking operators and linemen had assembled up town, and were preventing two linemen from climbing the poles to repair wires. A force of police was sent to the scene. Early this morning the policemen telegraphed that the circuit running south from headquarters refused to work. When daylight came the linemen who were sent out by the department found that not far from headquarters some one had climbed a pole and wound a piece of heavy wire around forty or fifty wires that ran through the street, bunching them all together, and all circuits were thus disabled. The obstruction was removed.

Another Damaging Statement Against Crook.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—[Special.]—According to a Dallas, Texas, special, leading republican papers of the north having taken Senator Gibbs severely to task for his statement of the Indian situation in the southwest, and Crook's recent campaign, a correspondent called on Mr. Henry F. Underwood, just back from the scene of Crook's exploits. Mr. Underwood stands in high public estimation. He fully confirms every word stated by Senator Gibbs, and that it voices the sentiment and feeling of citizens of New Mexico and Arizona in regard to the Indian policy of the general government and the recent exploits of General Crook. Mr. Underwood says he saw the Indians captured by Crook, and that they were nothing but old men, women and children. Mexican citizens in the immediate vicinity claim that Crook's expedition was as bare of desired results as it was of bloodshed, as he never even recovered Charlie McComas or weakened the hostiles to the extent of a single warrior.

Pennsylvania Democrats in Convention.

HARRISBURG, PA., Aug. 1.—The democratic convention assembled at 11:35, and was called to order by Chairman Hensel. The list of delegates was called, and for the first time in years no contested seats were announced. Robert E. Wright of Lehigh county was chosen temporary chairman by acclamation, together with the necessary officers for the transaction of preliminary business. A resolution that the committee on credentials, of one delegate from each congressional district, to be named by delegates, was adopted and the convention adjourned until 2 P. M. The convention is very harmonious and the indications point to the transaction of business with dispatch. Robert E. James of Northampton will likely be selected as permanent chairman.

National Total Abstinence.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Delegates to the convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence union of America met in Brooklyn to-day. This is their thirteenth annual convention, and delegates were present from all parts of the country. After assembling, the delegates proceeded to the cathedral, where solemn high mass was celebrated. Bishop Laughlin made a brief address of welcome and encouragement. The delegates, who numbered 580, preceded by a band of music and escorted by uniformed citizens from Philadelphia, marched to the meeting hall, where the convention was organized. Jas. B. Cotter of Winona, Minn., president of the national union, presided, and Philip A. Nolan, general secretary, recorded.

Marriage of Osmond Tearle.

DENVER, August 1.—Osmond Tearle, leading man of Wallack's company, was married this morning to Minnie Conway, a well known stage beauty. The wedding occurred in Miss Rose Coghlan's room, at the Windsor hotel, Rev. Charles Marshall officiating. A wedding breakfast was provided by Miss Coghlan, which was a very elegant affair. Tearle was recently divorced in New York, and Miss Conway was also recently divorced from her husband, Jake Levy, the famous cornetist. The affair has produced a sensation. Miss Conway arrived from New York last night. An effort is being made to keep the details of the marriage quiet.

The Boston Failure.

BOSTON, July 31.—Some uneasiness was felt this morning in anticipation of other failures which might follow yesterday's suspension, but none were announced except that of Macomber & Greenwood, and the feeling of uneasiness is over. Members of the two largest firms affected by Shaw's failure express the opinion that they will come out without trouble. It will be some days, and perhaps weeks, before the delayed statement of Shaw & Bros.' condition can be prepared. The property covers immense territory, and is in so many forms, that it must of necessity be a long time before an account of the stock can be taken.

Indian Grievances to be Aired.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Senator Dawes of Massachusetts, chairman of the committee appointed by the senate to investigate the grievances of Indians on Dakota and Montana reservations, is in the city. The other members of the committee are Senators Logan, Vest, Cameron of Wisconsin, Morgan of Arkansas and Delegate Maginnis of Montana. They are expected to arrive to-morrow, when a plan for future action will be outlined. It is expected that the committee will leave for St. Paul to-morrow night.

The Hill Investigation.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—To-day in the Hill investigation John Woodward testified as an expert with respect to steam heating apparatus in the Chicago custom house. It is claimed that he had made an examination of all the steam fitting in the building and found that they differed widely from the specifications. He estimated that a saving of fully 20 per cent. had accrued to the contractors by their failure to comply with the specifications.

King continued his testimony in reference to heating tubes and boilers for the Chicago custom house. His evidence was to the effect that the coils and tubes were short of the specifications, the boilers and tanks were too small, and the iron not of sufficient thickness, which resulted in cold rooms through out the building, while, if the machinery had been according to specification the building would have been perfectly heated.

Heavy Boot and Shoe Failure.

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—The Journal says: Charles S. Ward & Co., boot and shoe manufacturers of Boston and Brockton, to-day made an assignment to M. T. Dickinson for the benefit of creditors; liabilities, in the neighborhood of $750,000; assets at present unknown. T. Shaw & Bros. owe the firm about $300,000.

Business Failure.

LANCASTER, Aug. 1.—The Lancaster Watch Company suspended to-day, throwing 250 hands out of employment. The suspension was occasioned by the failure of A. Bellner, the manager and principal stockholder of the company. The directors state that the suspension is only temporary.

Coopers on a Strike.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1.—Coopers in nine different shops in north St. Louis to-day struck for higher wages. They demand seven cents for hooping, and ten cents for making full hand-made barrels. They have been getting five and eight cents. About ninety men are out.

Will Shut Down.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—It was stated this morning that as a result of the strike of workmen in the rolling mills at south Chicago, where 1800 men are usually employed, the management has decided to shut down for an indefinite period.

Passengers Arriving To-night.

MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 1.—[Special.]—Passed through to-day westward to arrive in Portland: T. L. Kirkson, F. A. McFaul, J. McCready and F. S. Barnes, of Sioux City, Iowa.

Small Reduction of the Public Debt.

WASHINGTON, August 1.—It is said at the treasury department that the reduction of the public debt for July will be unusually small, if there be any. An estimate cannot be given.

The Senatorial Contest.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 1.—In the thirty-ninth ballot for United States senator to-day, Pike gained 9 over yesterday's vote. Burns 10 and Marston 2. Chandler out.

Coinage at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, August 1.—Coinage of the mint here the past month aggregated 3,086,000 pieces, valued at $1,628,80[illegible]. The amount includes 1,200,000 silver dollars.

FOREIGN NEWS.

THE KILLING OF CAREY.

Further Particulars of O'Donnell's Rash Deed—The Slayer Confesses.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A correspondent at Cape Town says: O'Donnell took passage for Cape Town, but learning that Carey was to follow as a passenger, he continued on the journey with him and the steamer Melrose, and shot him when that steamer was close to Algona bay, in the presence of the informer's family. O'Donnell is calm; he is strongly guarded, as rumors are afloat that an attempt to rescue him will be made. A fund to be used for defending him is being collected.

O'DONNELL ACKNOWLEDGES THE MURDER.

CAPE TOWN, Aug. 1.—O'Donnell was examined before a Port Elizabeth magistrate to-day on a charge of murder of James Carey, the informer. According to the evidence given, Carey and O'Donnell had been drinking in the second cabin just before the murder. When the steamer was half way between Table bay and Algoa bay O'Donnell suddenly shot Carey in the neck with a revolver. Carey staggered away. O'Donnell followed and shot him twice in the back. Carey died in twenty minutes. O'Donnell says that he was in California diggings and had lost largely in silver mines. He was unaware of Carey's identity until he saw it stated in a paper who Power was. He then determined to kill him. O'Donnell was accompanied by Mrs. Carey. She deposed at the examination that after the murder she asked O'Donnell "did you shoot my husband?" and he replied "yes, I was sent to do it."

Unauthenticated rumors are current that O'Donnell is a relative of Joe Brady, one of the Phœnix park murderers hanged recently, and that the vigilantes are cognizant of the abode of Peter Carey. A fund is being collected in London to be used in defending O'Donnell.

NEWS ANTICIPATED.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—It is worthy of note what humor prevailed in nationalistic circles in London Sunday night last, when it became known that James Carey had been shot. The item stating that he had been killed was tendered to the news agency in London at midnight Sunday, but was refused as no authority was given for the statement. It has since been ascertained that a telegram had been received at Paris, from Brindisi, which was forwarded to London Sunday night reading, "James Carey been shot; thank God." As the steamer Melrose, on which Carey was shot, did not reach Port Elizabeth until Monday, either this statement was based on a mere surmise or the statement, which was openly made in certain nationalistic circles to the effect that it had been prearranged to kill Carey on the last Sunday in July was true.

REJOICING OVER CAREY'S DEATH.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A mob entered some of the houses on Abbey street to-night and seized bedding, furniture and other articles with which to make bonfires in celebration of the death of James Carey. Effigies of Carey were burned and mock funerals held in various Irish towns to-night.

ENGLAND.

IRISH LAND TROUBLES.

LONDON, August 1.—A statement signed by lords Dunraven, Lifford, Gough, Castleton, Fortescue and other landlords of Ireland has been sent to Gladstone, pointing out the losses of rent and the depreciation in value of land that has taken place in consequence of the passage of the land act, and suggesting state aid in the shape of a loan for the relief of land owners.

The agricultural holdings bill passed the third reading in the House of Commons to-day.

TRIAL OF CONSPIRATORS.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 1.—Justice Stephen, charging a jury to-day, referred to the case of the conspirators O'Herlihy, Featherstone, Flannigan and Dalton, and said the charge against them of conspiracy to murder would scarcely hold good unless it was proved that the prisoners intended to commit murder when they attempted to blow up the buildings.

IMMIGRATION NEGOTIATIONS.

LONDON, July 31.—The colonial secretary has informed the lords that negotiations with Canada in regard to immigration were pending and it was hoped, would result honorably.

THE CHOLERA.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A dispatch from Cairo says the number of deaths there from cholera during the last twenty-four hours was 275.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A dispatch from Cairo says 326 deaths from cholera occurred in that city yesterday.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Deaths from cholera among the British troops stationed in Egypt on Monday numbered 8 at Ismailia, one at Cairo, 1 at Helouare and 1 at E werdan. Deaths among natives in Egypt, exclusive of those at Cairo, number 40, including 17 at Rosetta.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 1.—Corn, new mixed, steady at 5 shillings 4 pence.

ITALY.

IMPOSSIBLE TO BURY ALL BODIES.

NAPLES, Aug. 1.—The burial of the victims of the earthquake continued throughout the day. Two hundred and eighty bodies were buried at Casamicciola, 90 at Lucco and 29 at Forio. The latest estimates place the number of deaths at between 4000 and 6000. As it would be impossible to recover and bury all the bodies, the general minister of public works has ordered that in view of the horrible exhalations from the decomposing remains, unrecovered corpses be left where they lie and liquid lime be poured over them. The ruins made by the earthquake at Casamicciola will thus be converted into one vast cemetery.

VIENNA, Aug. 1.—This municipality voted a large sum of money for the relief of earthquake sufferers in Ischia.

A WARNING SHOCK KEPT SECRET.

ROME, Aug. 1.—Private telegrams have been received stating there was an earthquake in Ischia on the 23d of July, but that the fact was hushed up by the authorities for fear that if reports were sent abroad visitors would be deterred from visiting the places.

FRANCE.

FRANCE WELL PLEASED.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—The action of the British house of commons on the Suez canal question gives satisfaction to the press and people of France, and is considered a guarantee of peace. The treaty between France and Tunis will be submitted to the chamber of deputies to-morrow. It confirms the establishment of a French protectorate.

APOLLO COMMANDERY IN PARIS.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—Apollo Commandery Knights Templar, of Chicago, are now here, visiting various objects of interest in the city.

SPAIN.

REUNION OF THE KING AND QUEEN.

MADRID, Aug. 1.—King Alfonso and Queen Christina arrived at the royal palace yesterday evening. The king went to the frontier to meet his royal spouse. This fact dissipates whatever may still remain of the story that they quarreled.

GERMANY.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—A large building on Kopmicker strasse in this city, used as a manufactory of velvet, burned last night. The loss is heavy. Three firemen were killed by falling walls.

WEST INDIES.

RESIGNED FROM THE ARMY.

HAVANA, August 1.—General Prendergast, captain-general of Cuba, has resigned, owing to ill health. General Chinchilla, vice-captain-general, also has resigned. General Castello has been appointed General Prendergast's successor.

ACCIDENTAL.

TRAIN COLLISION.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 1.—A Troy and Boston freight train collided this morning at Pawlet, Vt. The locomotives of both trains were wrecked, and it is reported that six persons were killed, all employes, one named Sullivan of this city, and another Barrett. The wreck caught fire.

TROY, N. Y., August 1.—The names of the passengers killed in the collision are Mark Sutherland and Charles Martin, engineers, Troy; John Barrett, conductor, Troy, and H. H. Bruce, operator of the Troy and Greenfield railroad. Twelve cars are burning. Engines have been sent to the scene from this city and Hoosac Falls. Johnson, night operator at Petersburg junction is blamed for the collision. He had been given orders to hold one train at the junction, and neglected to transfer his instructions to the day operator, who, in his ignorance, allowed the train to pass.

THE TURF.

AT CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, July 31.—Trotting, class 2:29—Nexy Cobb won, George U 2d, Allegheny Boy 3d, Felix 4th; time, 2:21¼, 2:20¾, 1:35, 2:21¾, 2:2[illegible].

Utah's Governor on the Polygamy Question.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—Governors Crittenden of Missouri and Murray of Utah, accompanied by their families and others arrived in this city last evening. Governor Murray was interviewed by a reporter on the Mormon question, and said that on the 6th an election will be held, under the Edmunds' act, and that the result would be a Monogamist legislature. On being asked as to what advantages would accrue to Utah under the change he quietly replied that he considered a polygamist legislature the more preferable of the two. "I admire the robber," explained the governor, "if I admire him at all, who enters your house and does the robbery, more than his chums who stand guard and divide the spoils. I, therefore, think such a change as is expected can not be for the better." Governor Murray does not think the Edmunds act will solve the polygamy problem. Even if administered to its utmost it would fall short of checking polygamy's growth, and in his opinion polygamy has not increased any since it went into effect.

Coal Mining Company to be Organized.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—[Special.]—A circular has been issued by parties here, calling attention to certain properties in Washington territory, described by metes and bounds, and said to lie twenty-three miles east of Seattle, which contain valuable coal deposits. It is proposed to organize a company to develop these fields, with a view of shipping to this market. Should a company be organized and the locations claimed by the company turn out as expected, capital will be invested and the mines worked for all they are worth. It is stated that some time ago a similar attempt was made to organize a joint stock company here, but that owing to conflicting claims of the owners of the property in question no understanding was arrived at, and the scheme was abandoned.

Probable Suicide of an Army Officer.

B. F. Sang, assistant surgeon of the United States army, was found dead this morning in his room at the Occidental hotel. He was lying on the bed, dressed, and at his side was a bottle labeled "poison." He had been on sick leave for some time past, and was last seen alive at midnight by a hotel clerk. Army officers reject the theory that he committed suicide, and attribute his death to heart disease, from which he suffered. Deceased had a brilliant military record, and during the Modoc war lost a leg. An autopsy will be held.

Tax Reformers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—The tax reform league of California has issued a circular letter to all leaders throughout the state, calling on them to organize and make a united effort for the adoption of an amendment to the constitution, which will abolish all licenses, road and poll taxes and substituting a direct tax upon real and personal property only. It is claimed that this would dispense with an army of clerks, and reduce the cost of running the government and simplify public affairs.

More Immigrants for the Northwest.

[Special.]—The number of immigrants arriving here during the past few days shows a considerable increase in the passenger movements from eastern and western states. The majority of these are prospective settlers in Oregon and Washington territory. Over 100 took passage for Portland this morning, and nearly an equal number leave for Seattle on Sunday next. As a rule they hail from Colorado, Wisconsin and New Mexico, and claim to be farmers.

Triennial Conclave Notes.

A triennial committee has chartered a special car to proceed to Los Angeles with a delegation to meet Grand Master Dean. The escorting party consists of Grand Commander Perkins and officers of the grand commandery of California. The party will leave here Sunday the 12th inst. Mrs. Mark Hopkins has contributed $1000 to the triennial conclave fund.

Sailed for Vancouver.

[Special.]—Major Darling sailed for Portland this morning with a detachment of cavalry from Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and en route to Fort Vancouver and other military stations in the northwest. The detachment numbers twenty-two men.

Railroad Commissioners' Meeting.

The railroad commissioners met this morning and passed resolutions notifying railroad companies that the new schedules of fares had been printed, and would have to be observed by the companies. The schedule comprises five pages of tabular statements, thirty-six inches by twenty-four.

King Kalakaua Coming to the Conclave.

The steamship Mariposa, to arrive from Honolulu about the 11th, will bring King Kalakaua with the royal Hawaiian band, to attend the conclave.

Will Load at Portland.

The British bark Fiery Cross, now at Wilmington, Cal., has been chartered to load wheat at Portland for the United Kingdom.

Reduced in Rank.

VALLEJO, July 31.—Mr. McWilliams, foreman blacksmith, and Sidney Jacobs, foreman machinist, in the department of steam engineering at Mare Island, were reduced in rank to-day, their positions being declared vacant in accordance with a suggestion by the naval board.

STATE DISPATCHES.

Resignation of a Member of the Legislature.

SALEM, Aug. 1.—[Special.]—Hon. Frank A. Stewart, having been appointed deputy United States collector for the district of southern Oregon, to reside at Port Orford, to-day filed with the governor his resignation as joint representative in the legislative assembly for the counties of Coos and Curry.

A CRUEL HOAX.

The Report of the Colorado Train Accident Proves Untrue.

DENVER, July 31.—The report was in circulation yesterday that the Grand Army of the Republic excursion train had been wrecked in Black canyon, on the Denver and Rio Grande railway, and a great number of lives lost. It has not the least foundation in fact, and absolutely nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the excursionists.

The report sent east last night, probably from some mountain town, that the Grand Army excursion train had been wrecked in Black canyon, was the most cruel hoax ever perpetrated on the public. Not a fatal railroad accident has occurred in Colorado for months, and the particular train said to have been wrecked was not within 100 miles of Black canyon at the time.

CHICAGO, July 31.—The following dispatch was received here this morning:

DENVER, July 31.

To P. I. Howell, General Passenger Agent of the C., B. & Q. R. R. Co.: I am informed that some malicious person has sent a report to the eastern press of a frightful accident on our lines. There is not a word of truth in the same. We have not injured a passenger for over a year. The only detention on our line yesterday was caused by a slight washout, which has been remedied, and the entire line will be in shape by to-morrow.

F. J. KIMS,
General Passenger Agent D. & R. G. R. R.

THE PRIZE RING.

A BRIEF CONTEST.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—A large representation of the sporting fraternity took hacks at 3 o'clock this morning to witness a prize fight between two ambitious fighters named O'Connor and McCann. A ring was pitched sixteen miles from the city. The mill was brought to a sudden termination by O'Connor getting a fall in the first round by which his arm was broken. The police of this city pursued the party in patrol wagons, but arrived on the scene after the departure of the contestants and spectators.

CRIMINAL.

A DEFAULTER CAPTURED.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Aug. 1.—Levi D. Janard, missing ex-postmaster and defaulting collector to the extent of $59,000, was captured at Niagara Falls, Ontario, yesterday.

A Fenian Bilk.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—For some time past a party named Michael Feeney has been living high upon the Irish League of Buffalo, N. Y. He came through Canada, claiming to have been sent out as an assisted emigrant, and to have been subjected to great indignities and dangers as well as outrageous hardships, because of the fact that he had been connected with the Irish Invincibles, and had assaulted Carey because of his treason. At a crowded meeting of the Irish league he narrated his experience at Kilmainham as a political prisoner, and harrowed the souls of his hearers by a description of the torments he suffered in the cause of Irish freedom. In the role of a martyr he had been enjoying life as generously at the hands of the Buffalo Irish that he ate and drank himself into jim-jams, and had to be taken to the hospital. A newspaper distrusting the Fenian's story wrote to the authorities at Dublin, and he was surprised to learn that Feeney was never imprisoned for political reasons.

A VOICE FROM THE PRESS.

I take this opportunity to bear testimony to the efficacy of your "Hop Bitters." Expecting to find them nauseous and bitter and composed of bad whisky, we were agreeably surprised at their mild taste, just like a cup of tea. A Mrs. Cresswell and a Mrs. Connor, friends, have likewise tried, and pronounce them the best medicine they have ever taken for building up strength and toning up the system. I was troubled with costiveness, headache and want of appetite. My ailments are now all gone. I have a yearly contract with a doctor to look after the health of myself and family, but need him not now. S. GILLILAND,

WASHINGTON CITY.

Business of the Internal Revenue Department.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The commissioner of internal revenue has written a letter to Secretary Folger in relation to the operations of his office, in which he says:

I have the honor to report that the offices of all the collectors of internal revenue, 126 in number, were carefully examined before the close of the last fiscal year, ending June 30, 1883, and that the entire collections of internal revenue of that year, amounting to $144,000,566, have not only been accounted for, but paid into the treasury of the United States. My predecessor, Hon. Green B. Raum, in his report to you, dated July 29, 1882, made a statement which it may not be improper to repeal. He said: "It is further my pleasant duty to report that during the last six fiscal years some $748,851,07[illegible] has been collected from internal revenue taxation and paid into the treasury, without any loss by defalcation." The expenses for the past fiscal year, including the expenses of this office, will be found in the final adjustment not to exceed $5,100,000, or less than 3½ per cent. on the amount collected. The expenses of collection for six years have been about $27,657,880, or 3 6-10 per cent. on the amount collected. This sum has been disbursed without loss to the government.

Notwithstanding the material changes made to the law by the act of congress of the 3d of March, 1883, so large was the increase of taxes derived from distilled spirits that for the year ending June 30, 1883, there was collected $1[illegible],458,866 of internal revenue. The collection of this vast sum cost the government about $5,[illegible],000, a percentage of 3½, and the money was disbursed without any loss to the United States. It gives me pleasure to state that the reports of the collectors and internal revenue agents indicate not only a very satisfactory condition of the service as respects efficiency, but also that no combination exists to defraud the government of its internal revenues, nor is it believed that any important efforts are making for the illicit manufacture of either whisky, tobacco or cigars. Much praise is justly due the officers in the service for the zeal and efficiency with which their very important duties are discharged. The executive order of June 25, 1883, directing the consolidation of revenue districts, is being executed as rapidly as the great labor of doing so will permit. It is to be hoped that in a few days, or weeks at most, the order will be made to take effect in most of the districts affected by it. In some instances the matter will be unnecessarily delayed by the difficulties incident to the execution of the new bonds required of each collector designated for a district as newly constituted.

Your attention is respectfully called to the statement showing the receipts from various sources of internal revenue for the past fiscal year, showing the increase or decrease as compared with collections for 1882. The total receipts for the present year from spirits were $74,[illegible],75, being an increase of $4,495,3[illegible]. The total receipts from green tobacco were $42,104,250, being a decrease of $5,287,334. The total receipts from fermented liquors were $16,900,615, an increase of $740,30[illegible]. The total receipts from banks and bankers (not national) were $3,748,[illegible], a decrease of $1,504,464. The total miscellaneous receipts were $7,430,781, a decrease of $410,765. There was an increase of $115,[illegible] on penalties and a decrease of $610,055 on bank checks, friction matches and patent medicines.

The Fifth Illinois (Peoria) district collected during the year $13,083,625; the First Illinois $[illegible],119,191; the First Ohio, $10,577,[illegible]; the Fifth Kentucky $7,530,781; the First California, $8,673,828. In the amount of collections the state of Illinois leads the list with $25,977,525; New York returned $17,067,187; Ohio, $15,734,017; Pennsylvania, $8,703,679; California, $4,002,376.

The following is the estimated annual reduction of internal taxation under the act of March 3, 1883, on the basis of receipts for the past fiscal year. Estimated annual reduction of the tax on capital and deposits of banks and bankers, national, $5,249,178; on snuff, chewing and smoking tobacco, $12,906,192; on cigars, $9,[illegible]; cigarettes, $674,000; special taxes of peddlers, tobacco and snuff manufacturers and dealers in tobacco, $1,130,415; bank checks, $2,318,450; matches, $3,[illegible],000; patent medicines and perfumery, $1,96[illegible],500; on capital and deposits of national banks, $5,[illegible],700; total annual reduction of internal taxation $42,647,600.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Fatal Termination of a Pleasure Party in Maine.

CHICAGO, July 31.—A Bar Harbor special from Bar Harbor, Me., of the 27th, says: A distressing accident happened at North-East Harbor, near the residence of the president of Harvard College, yesterday afternoon, to a party consisting of J. D. Case of the dry goods commission house of Case, Lelands & Co. of Boston, his wife and four daughters; a daughter of Francis White of Baltimore, Miss Lewis, a daughter of Mrs. F. E. Lewis of Boston; and Miss K. C. Pierce of Boston. They had been in Bar Harbor for several weeks and yesterday took a cruise in a large yacht—the Nirvana. They landed at North-East Harbor, where they were met by a buckboard from Bar Harbor. On their return in the evening, while on the brow of a hill, near the new residence of President Eliot, the rod of the pin broke, letting the buckboard slide forward over one of the front wheels, frightening the horses, which ran away with the pole and whiffletrees and the board holding the party. The strain when the bolt broke turned the horses toward the right, dashing all the occupants with terrific force against the rocks. Miss Mabel Case had her neck broken and sustained other injuries sufficient of themselves to have killed her. She died in less than three-quarters of an hour. Miss White had her arms broken in several places and her wrist crushed. Mr. Case was severely cut about the head and badly injured about the knees. Miss Pierce was also injured in nearly the same manner. Miss Lewis was the least injured of any in the party. Both she and Miss Pierce have been brought to Bar Harbor. The other three daughters of Mr. Case were injured severely about the head and body, being shockingly bruised on the knees and lower parts of the body. Dr. Langdell of Philadelphia, summering here, says: "Nothing can be told of the extent or permanency of the injuries. All I can say is that they are very severely injured. I look especially for serious results from the severe brain concussion they received. Their heads and bodies are covered with welts and are black and blue from blows. The shock must have been something terrible."

Steward Dow, the driver, was also seriously injured, and, like the others, chiefly about the head. The body of Mabel Case is still at President Eliot's house.

An Early Fall of Kalakau's Realm Predicted

NEW YORK, July 29.—The World editorially says: We are glad to hear evidences that the monumental fraud called the Kingdom of the Sandwich Islands, which has been maintained for the past twelve years at the expense of the people of the United States, is ready to fall to pieces. A great many jobs have from time to time been put up on the people of the United States, but we do not know of any worse than that of the Sandwich Islands. While we tax the products of Canada and Mexico and do everything to destroy the trade between ourselves and these friendly neighbors, we pay the Sandwich Islands a subsidy of $2,000,000 a year as evidence of our high esteem for their system of coolie slavery. This money is divided, however: San Francisco refiners, the Central Pacific, Claus Spreckles, D. Kalakaua and his pinchbeck court. It has naturally made things lively in Honolulu, but we are told it will not last. Anglo civilization is fatal to the Kanakas, and Kalakaua is merely a vicious sensualist, unfit for everything except the base pleasures of his race. We presume that when our costly doll-house kingdom falls to pieces England will step in and assume a protectorate.

A Coal Mine on Fire.

LINCOLN, Cal., July 26.—The large, new bunkers and hoisting works of the Clipper coal mine at this place was discovered to be on fire this morning about 6 o'clock. The men working in the mine were immediately notified to come out, and all easily made their escape. In the meantime the fire had got under such headway that the whole works were doomed to destruction. There were three loaded cars standing alongside the bunkers. Some section men got to the works in time to save three of the cars, but owing to the falling timbers one could not be got out, and was burned. The loss will be heavy to the owners, who had just got everything in good shape to make the mine pay. Mr. Lewis, the principal owner, and manager, has the sympathy of the entire community. All openings to the mine are being closed up, and it is not yet known how far down the main shaft the fire has gone, but it is thought and hoped that the mine may be saved. Insurance $5000 in the Fireman's Fund.

MONTANA MATTERS.

FIELD NOTES ALONG THE LINE OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

With a Few Words about Stage Drivers and their Ornate Profanity—Deer Lodge County and Hell Gate Canyon.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO THE OREGONIAN.]

MISSOULA, M. T., July 28.

The traditional tendency of the American people to exaggerate grossly the population of the various towns of this country is nowhere better illustrated than in Montana. Prior to leaving home, I asked several persons, whom I knew had been in this land of mountains, what the population of Missoula was? Various answers were given me. Some estimated the inhabitants of this stirring little place at 5000. Others guessed the population to number between 3000 and 4000, and the most moderate individual "sized" it up at 2500, and declared it could not be anything less. Of course, I was disappointed when I reached here. The train came bounding in about 1 o'clock on a dark night, and nothing was visible save a number of hotel solicitors and railroad men, all of whom were shouting at the top of their voices and making the place a veritable Babel for the moment. Next morning, I took a stroll about town, and found that the inhabitants of Missoula did not exceed 1500; but the location of Missoula could not be improved. Resting as it does in a valley, flanked on one side by the Northern Pacific railroad, and on the other by the Missoula river, it is as desirable a site for a good town as can be found in the territory. Its streets are well laid out, and some of the residences and business blocks are excellent, of their kind. The town is the county seat of Missoula county, which is larger in area than several New England states, and is said to contain fabulous mineral treasures which are awaiting the advent of some lucky prospector. The town has a fine agricultural section to draw from; to wit: the Bitter Root valley, where a large area of land is under cultivation. The merchants of this place are progressive men as a general rule, and are satisfied with the existing order of things especially in regard to the ultimate prosperity of the town. Missoula cannot truthfully be said to be enjoying a boom just now, but there is a healthy, steady growth in the value of real property here, which impresses many with confidence in its permanency. The city is as quiet and well conducted as Portland, being provided with an efficient police force, who are sufficiently able to cope with any dangerous characters who may attempt to violate the law. Speaking of bad characters reminds me that one Ah Kee, a Chinese highbinder, who diversified the monotony of a railroad camp life by killing off a few of his countrymen, is to be hanged here on August 10. His case is chiefly remarkable for two facts. First, that the doomed man was regarded with such fear by the Chinese that it is said that they are reported to have spent a much money to secure his conviction and secondly, because his hanging will be the first legal execution west of the Rocky mountains in Montana. Scores of men have "stretched hemp" in this section, but it was usually for manifesting a disregard for the rights of others in the matter of horseflesh, and the ceremony was generally under the kind offices of Judge Lynch.

The progress of construction along the line of the Northern Pacific eastward from here is encouraging in the extreme. The track was laid to-day to a point nearly twenty-four miles east of Missoula and a short distance from Kramer's stage station. They are pushing on with prodigious strides the whole of Winston's army being imbued with the energy and desire to make the junction on or about the 1st of September. On one day of this week nearly three and one-quarter miles of track were laid and the road ballasted. The end of track tonight is 443 miles from Wallula and still advancing. The sturdy sun-browned laborer before whose vigorous strokes this magnificent railroad has been pushed on, will two months hence be thrown out of employment and what will then become of most of them is a problem which I leave to be solved by more philosophic minds. With that reckless prodigality characteristic of men in their walks of life, many of them have squandered

THE AMPLE WAGES

They have been receiving for months, at the gaming table and over the saloon bars and when the last episode driven which cements the opening and occident, a horde of penniless men will be thrown upon their own resources, and it is feared that a few may turn up in the Deer Lodge penitentiary. Most of them, it is to be hoped, will drift into some other honest and legitimate calling. All along the line of the railway construction is the whisky mill, usually situated in a canvas tent, and supplied with all the articles essential to an outfit of the kind. The railroad hands tell some good stories of the vile liquors dispensed by these purveyors of spiritual solace. Some time ago a bridge carpenter, who had been drinking pretty heavily, wandered off into the woods and fell into a drunken stupor. While sleeping off the effects of his potations, he was bitten by a monster rattlesnake. Some hours later he was found by several comrades, still slumbering and holding in a warm embrace the rattlesnake—which was stone dead.

The stage ride from Missoula to Deer Lodge would be a positive pleasure were it not attended with so many discomforts. The road winds through the majestic Hell Gate canyon where each succeeding mile unfolds richer and more glorious vistas to the eye. The stage which, as a general thing, is outrageously crowded, bowls along at a rapid pace over rocky roads and steep grades alike, the pleasure of the passenger not being materially enhanced by the sang froid of the driver when skirting the edges of steep precipices, where the least false step might hurl vehicle, driver and all down into the yawning rocky chasm which gapes invitingly open and extends, as it seems, for thousands of feet below. The average Montana stage driver is an "art at" in one line, and that is in profanity. His conversation is liberally garnished with oaths that are so ingeniously interwoven with his sentences that they excite a mild form of admiration among the younger men. Before their profanity the choice vocabulary of a

TEXAS CATTLE PUNCHER

Dwindles into insignificance, and the quaint oaths of a Mississippi river gambler which attract while they repel, lose their ineffectual fires. The appalling frequency with which these Jehus bandy the names of things most sacred, and the eloquent, easy and natural flow of a string of objurgations, which well from their lips, as streams bursts from a mountain side, are sulphurously redolent of a torrid zone destined for predatory congressmen and recreant bank cashiers. They comprise among them, however, some jolly, fat, good natured chaps, who can beguile the tedium of the road with a good yarn. A good cigar is perhaps the best bait to draw them out. Their days are numbered, however, in this section of the country, and before many days have elapsed, the place that has known them shall know them no more.

The wagon road, and for that matter the railroad bed winds for many miles beside a stream which enjoys three different names between Deer Lodge and Missoula. Near the former place it is a crystal sparkling stream, and is called the "Deer Lodge," it being supplemented by numberless creeks and brooks and by the Little Blackfoot river. It soon changes its name to the Hell Gate, and after meandering for probably fifty miles through the picturesque canyon of the same name, and acting as a reservoir for the muddy waters of innumerable sluice-boxes, mining and irrigating ditches it next becomes the Missoula river which flows onward for many leagues, undergoing many changes in region and nomenclature, until it loses itself in the majestic and mighty Columbia, whose roaring torrent flows ever onward to swell the pur[illegible] sea.

Montana boasts of a New Chicago, so-called probably because it is so utterly unlike old Chicago. The place is

A STRAGGLING VILLAGE

Of a few houses where the stage passengers stop for refreshments, which are usually atrociously cooked and disgustingly served. But everything "goes" in Montana, and with the advent of the Northern Pacific these things will be better managed. I met a quaint character at New Chicago, one Jerry Dunn, formerly of Douglas county, Oregon, and a typical frontiersman. "Uncle Jerry," as they call him here, has a strange history, which I give in a nutshell. Born in Kentucky served through the Mexican war, roamed in California in 1849, came to Oregon in '50, fought Indians, never went to school a day in his life, never voted for a president, has drank whisky and used tobacco for 60 years, never was sick an hour in his life, is 76 years old, straight as an arrow, sound as a dollar, a sub-old bachelor and intends to live till he is a hundred, sure. The old man helped me to pass what would otherwise have been an intolerably dull night by many laughable and interesting reminiscences of Gen. Joe Lane, J. W. Nesmith, the venerable Dr. McLaughlin of Oregon City, and a host of other pioneers, all of whom he knew intimately in old Webfoot.

A few words in relation to the Deer Lodge valley. This attractive valley is thirty-five miles long by ten miles wide. About one-quarter of it is under cultivation, and all manner of cereals can be grown there. Wheat planted there has yielded thirty to forty bushels to the acre, and oats, rye and barley all grow abundantly. There is sufficient water for the land now under cultivation, but in order to conduct agricultural operations on a larger scale much irrigation would be necessary. Small fruits flourish here, but larger varieties do not thrive, owing to the frequently recurring cold snaps which catch the trees in blossom and destroy all chance of a crop.

The town of Deer Lodge is delightfully situated, and is regarded as the educational center of the territory. The justness of its claim to this distinction will be conceded when it is known that a $20,000 Presbyterian college is now in course of erection, a Catholic college has been already built, and a public school costing $25,000 will also shortly embellish this cosy little town. It was my good fortune to meet Captain Mills, editor of the Deer Lodge Northwest, who is one of the representative men of Montana, a genial and kindly gentleman, and one to whom I am indebted for much valuable information in regard to the resources of the territory.

Mention of this interesting portion of Montana would be incomplete without adverting to the mineral treasures which have been torn from her bosom and are still being taken out with unrelenting zeal by the rugged miners. "Pioneer," a quaint and picturesque camp on the line of stage travel, is chiefly famous for having had one of the richest bars in the world, $2,500,000 having been cleaned up there from the placers. The men are still washing out gold here and the diggings strew the ground for miles around. Leaving Pioneer the next point reached is "Yamhill," a deserted camp whose uninhabited houses and silent streets were oppressively ghostly in the pale moonlight. Rich strikes have been made in other parts of Deer Lodge county, notably at Beartown, Blackfoot, Washington Gulch and Elk Creek.

The most remunerative pursuit in Montana to-day is stock raising, the major portion of the cattle and horses now being located in the eastern portion of the territory. Time was when western Montana held the supremacy as a stock raising country, but the vast influx of miners and freighters in that section necessitated the saving of fodder for their animals, and the result was that

WESTERN UNION CAPITAL.

New York Times.

If there be any provision in the statute common law of the state of New York compelling the Western Union Telegraph Company to give and to the enormous injury it is inflicting upon the business community by its refusal to propose an adjustment of the claims of its employes, it should be applied. If the injury be allowed to go on much longer an effort will undoubtedly be made to secure a decision of that question, and, if the law permit, a compulsory settlement of the difficulty. Meanwhile, the company's officers must see that the sentiment of the great body of the public is one of indignation and condemnation of their course. The action of the telegraphers has, so far been strictly legitimate, by no means extreme or unreasonable. The petition presented to the company was moderate; no intimation was announced; no threat was made, the way was not closed to a compromise. When the company flatly refused to pay the slightest attention to this petition, and not only ignored it, but the channel through which it was presented, but declared the intention of breaking up the organization by which alone its employes could hope to exert any influence upon the company; the employes left their work, but they did it in a perfectly orderly manner, and they have conducted themselves in a law-abiding, self-respecting way which speaks much for their intelligence and self-control. There has been no dictation, no attempt to interfere with the property of the company and even any depredation of the company's or anybody's. There has been not the slightest intimidation of anyone who might go to take the place of a striking employe. The strike has been free from every element of lawlessness and the features which usually mar strikes. It has been simply a fair straightforward effort to get what the telegraphers have thought it due, and it has won, and deserves, the respect of all fair-minded men.

On the other hand, the company flatly and arbitrarily refuses to even consider the proposition of men who were justly entitled to put forward their claims as the company was to put forward its own, has been guilty of an outrageous violation of its obligations to the community. It is a well settled principle of law, that corporations franchised by the state carry with them an obligation to exercise them for the greatest general advantage consistent with a fair profit upon actual capital and expenditure. That principle has been steadily, openly and defiantly violated by the Western Union corporation. It is to-day, by a series of acts which is in effect and intent a deliberate contempt of the courts of the state, paying dividends upon millions of stock which does not represent actual investment for more than a fraction of its amount. The Herald recently showed by citations from documents, the accuracy of which has not been disputed, that the nominal capital of the company, on which it pays a per cent. dividend has been swollen by a series of transactions the transparent and unjustifiable character of which is in 1858 with a paid in capital of less than $400,000, there were scrip dividends in that year of 117 per cent. In 1862 there was another of 27.36 per cent. In 1863 there were two more of 33.33 per cent, bringing the nominal capital up to $12,000,000. In these five years the company built no lines or extension of lines, and divided over $7,000,000. In other words its profits in five years had been very nearly twenty times its original capital.

Since its establishment the company has issued, for the purchase of the [illegible] Telegraph Company's franchises, stock to the amount of $1,773,[illegible]; for the United States Company, $7,[illegible],300; to the American Union Company, $11,833,100; the [illegible] Atlantic and Pacific Company, $5,060,000; for [illegible] transactions, for which ($1,400,000), and in its recent [illegible] accounts, $[illegible],000. Of these $[illegible],000,000, more or less, not more than $[illegible] represented actual investment, and it is probable that of its present $80,000,000 of nominal capital fully two-thirds, and certainly more than one-half, represent nothing but water. By the construction most favorable to the company, the granting of all the demands of the employes would not reduce its capacity, without advancing rates, to divide at least 10 per cent per annum every dollar actually invested. Probably 15 per cent. would be much nearer the true figures. That company thus managed should indict such an able injury on the business of the country and its employees, should keep its employes in absolute servitude, is a lamentable state of affairs simply monstrous, and the unexcelled perpetuation of such an outrage is a condition that speaks but ill of the government under which we live.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, Aug. 1.

Governor Moody has just returned from a flying trip to The Dalles.

Miss Effie Good has gone to San Francisco where she will hereafter reside.

Esquire Johnson's new and costly residence is rapidly nearing completion.

Fritzer, youngest son of ex-governor and Mrs. S. F. Chadwick, is quite ill with the scarlet fever.

Everybody has gone to the mountains, and incidents of interest are all transpiring outside of the city.

Frank G. Abell, president of the Firemen's Association of Oregon, was in the city yesterday on business connected with the organization.

About forty-seven drops of rain fell here at noon to-day. The exertion proved too much for old Pluvius, and hostilities were then suspended.

It is the mortgage tax conundrum that is worrying the average Salem tax-payer and people are busy reading the current literature of the day treating on that vexed question.

Active preparations are being made to ensure the success of the coming state fair. Mrs. A. J. Stinson & Son have just completed an elegant three-sheet poster for the society which will soon be distributed.

In the absence of a quorum at the special meeting of the board of directors of the Firemen's Association of Oregon held last evening, no decision was arrived at in the contest pending between Linn Engine Company, No. 2, of Albany, and Tiger Engine Company, No. 2, of Salem. The members present, however, expressed a willingness to award the latter company the first prize offered on the ground that they complied with the conditions of the contest as set forth in the card, but not to allow them the honor of having beaten the record of Alert Engine Company, No. 2, of Albany, in 1871, inasmuch as they did not entirely comply with the conditions of such contest. An effort will be made to secure a decision on this basis, which it is to be hoped, will prove satisfactory to all parties concerned.

Yaquina as a Dairy Country.

Yaquina Post.

Yaquina bay, or rather the adjacent country, possesses in a remarkable degree the requisites for a first-class dairying country. The prime requisites for the manufacture of good butter are pure air, cold, running water, and plenty of sweet nutritious herbage, fresh, rich, juicy food combining both the quality and quantity of the article. The country abounds in clear, cold water in rivulets, and ever living streams, the richest of grasses, and a kind of wild pea vine that now great relief. Owing to the presence of cold water everywhere and the fact that we have open, pleasant winters and cool, delicious summers, there is generally a good supply of fresh, green food all the year. Last winter was an exceptional one, being unusually cold and stormy and yet stock in many instances wintered without any other feed than that obtained by themselves in the hills and along the banks of the little streams that prevail everywhere. Seeing, as any one may, the advantages so munificently offered for a profitable conduct of the dairy business, and knowing from experience the difficulty of obtaining butter at any price, especially during the winter season, we are astonished that more enterprising butter-makers do not embark in a business that must prove profitable, and where every facility abounds. Butter always commands a good price, and if one went into the business on a large scale making a good article of butter, he could establish a reputation and a short time that would sell every pound of butter he could make at remunerative prices, in outside markets. And the same be said of cheese. And while these are facts, we have to acknowledge that the greater part of the butter consumed in the Bay proper, comes from outside.

A Result of Enlightenment.

Boston Herald.

Nothing more amusing has come up recently than the protests against the natural results of teaching political economy in the colleges. Any person who studies political economy honestly and free from local prejudices is bound to become a free trader, at least in theory. When David A. Wells began his labors as special commissioner of the revenue his predilections were in favor of the protective theory, but the more he studied into the matter of a free trader he became. It is always so, and the protests against free trade instruction in the colleges simply mean that logic is unsound and ought not to be trusted.

It affords me pleasure to assure you that after using Dr. C. McLane's Celebrated Liver Pills for more than twenty years in my family, that I regard them as being superior to any I have ever used or have seen used. I have not had them constantly and had to try others, and I have tried a good variety, but I have never had any to act so promptly, profitably and nicely as McLane's. I have used them on myself, wife and children, with the most gratifying results.
For children, having used them on my own with such easy and happy effect, I would recommend them to one and all. These pills do the work—do it promptly, do it well, and leave no ill effects behind.
As a bile remover, as a liver corrector, as a forerunner preparing the system for quinine, there is no pill or medicine equal to Dr. C. McLane's Celebrated Liver Pills. I expect to use them as long as I live, if they continue as good as they have been in the past.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND "PROTECTION."

In the democratic party there is lively disagreement over the policy to be pursued on the tariff question. It is quite certain that the free trade or tariff-for-revenue only wing of the party is stronger in numbers than the protectionist wing; but the representatives of the latter have been able for a long time to control the action of the party. It is true that in 1880 a platform declaring in favor of tariff for revenue was adopted, but this happened through the neglect of the protectionists, who will take care that it does not occur again. From 1874 to 1880 the house of representatives contained a strong democratic majority, and for a considerable part of that period the senate was democratic also; yet no effort was made to bring the tariff to revenue basis. The speaker of the house, Mr. Randall, of Pennsylvania, protected the protectionists at every point. He is now candidate for the speakership again, with a fair prospect of winning it. But his election is strongly opposed by a large section of his party on the ground that it would commit the party to the support of the protective system. The Louisville Courier-Journal says: "The next congress will decide whether or not we are to have tariff reform, whether or not the taxation is to be reduced, whether or not the infamous system which robs the many for the benefit of the few is to be continued. There is no escaping this issue with honor. The democrats were elected to do this work of reform. They cannot avoid it if they would. The popular demand for a radical change is irresistible; it must be satisfied." This is presented as an insuperable objection to Randall, of whom the same paper says: "To elect him speaker is to reverse the wheels of reform, to accept a leader out of the hands of the enemy and to set aside a sagacious and carefully laid plan of campaign at the bidding of the republicans, who, after Judge Kelley, prefer Mr. Randall. In a word, the election of Mr. Randall will do for the republicans what they cannot do for themselves and will be heralded by the republican press as a republican triumph. This the democratic party is in no mood to submit to."

The dilemma to the democratic party is a very serious one. Usually an effort to dodge political difficulties will succeed, because political issues in the main are abstract questions, and on matters of opinion the adroit wordmonger can often bring about an accommodation. But here is a subject which defies treatment of this kind. The protectionists are in earnest. The question for them is concrete, tangible, real. The protection system brings them heavy profits, and they not only intend to maintain it, but are resolved to see that it is not put in peril. Hence they will be satisfied with nothing less than unequivocal declarations in favor of protection; and democratic protectionists will insist upon such declarations all the more strongly because they know that their party really inclines to free trade, or to a strictly revenue tariff. The upshot of it all will be that the party, because it cannot do without the support of the protectionists, will yield the point for the sake of success or the hope of success. But it will still remain to be seen whether the "revenue reformers" of the party will fall into line and give the party in these circumstances a full and effective support, and also whether such professions of fidelity to protection as the democratic party may make will, after all, keep any great part of the protectionists from supporting the republican ticket under the conviction that the cause of protection will be safer in republican hands.

LOTTERIES AND THEIR ADVOCATES.

Much has been said, in past times, about the administration of President Hayes, and while there is no man in modern history who has more completely faded out of sight, yet occasional occurrences will recall some act of his administration which deserved more than passing commendation. It is well known that lotteries are prohibited in many states of the union, while in a few others they have been licensed under the specious pretense of dividing a moiety of their ill-gotten gains with the public charities of the state. No state, however, can afford to be placed in such a position as that of a dependent upon the profits of such a vice as gambling. It should not license lotteries, either, while prohibiting faro and monte by statutes prescribing fines and terms of imprisonment for their violation and infringement.

When D. M. Key was appointed postmaster general by President Hayes, he inaugurated a crusade against the lotteries, particularly those of Louisiana, Kentucky and New York, the latter being controlled by Benjamin Wood, a brother of the late Fernando. The Louisiana lottery has gained considerable notoriety from the fact that it is nominally managed by two ex-confederate generals, Early and Beauregard. These two worthies receive a small salary for the use of their names, but have no real voice in the management of the lottery, which is in fact controlled by a person named Dauphin. Failing in all other attempts to circumvent Dauphin and others of his ilk, Key finally issued a circular prohibiting the issuance of money orders to any person attempting to remit money to Dauphin, Wood, Eddy & Co., or any other advertised lottery managers. This order was kept in force until Key went out of office. His successor made no attempt to enforce the rule and the lotteries were soon in full blast again. No doubt the lotteries were utilized for campaign purposes as were the star routes, and under the stalwart regime of Timothy O. Howe the Key order seems to have been altogether forgotten. But since Postmaster General Gresham has succeeded to the postoffice portfolio he has revived the order and not only forbidden the issuance of money orders to parties intending to remit money to lottery dealers, but also revives Judge Key's second order, which prohibited the carrying of lottery advertisements and circulars in the mail bags, even when such circulars were fully covered by postage stamps. The clearness and simplicity with which Judge Gresham disposes of these cases shows him to be the right man in the right place.

In this connection it may be well to note the fact that an alleged newspaper published in this city, of which the postmaster at this place is one of the principal owners and most active managers, receives and publishes lottery advertisements in defiance of the statutes of this state prohibiting not only lotteries within the state, but also specially forbidding the advertisement by papers within the state of any lotteries whatever. The latest publication of this sort was in the issue of yesterday, and may be seen by any one who can read. The punishment attached to the commission of this offense is laid down on page 438 of the revised code, and consists of imprisonment in the county jail from one month to six months and a fine of $50 to $500, in the discretion of the court before whom a conviction is had for such offense. While Judge Gresham is doing his best to suppress lottery gambling his subordinate in this city is playing into the hands of the lottery sharks by the aid of his flat newspaper. It is a nice condition of affairs for Judge Gresham to contemplate if his attention were called to the fact.

At the very least, it was a violation of taste on the part of the mayor to nominate L. Besser, a man repudiated most emphatically only a little while ago by the people, for a place under the city government. The council acted properly in endorsing the popular verdict by prompt rejection.

It is not likely that "Lem" Besser will get the city judgeship. His nomination was an easy and cheap way of paying off old scores.

THE MATTER OF A CAREER.

The American people like all other peoples of progressive temperament, often allow follies to run away with their judgment, but the national practical sense never fails to set them right in the end. One of the most important reforms in popular sentiment, within the past few years, has been in regard to the relative dignity of professional and business life. The time is within the memory of very young men when to "amount to something" in the world a man had to be of the professions—lawyer preferred. It was the purpose of nearly every bright boy to "read law," and the ambition of nearly every father of the better class was to see his son settled in life as a lawyer. Law was the great aim-all, not always as an end of itself, but often as a means to what was considered still higher—the business of politics. And many a noble life was wrecked in this foolish race. The supply of lawyers and politicians soon far exceeded the demand and a great crowd of helpless and hopeless failures drifted and still drift about over the country, affording the youth of the land a practical lesson which they have had the good sense to heed.

Within ten years the attention of American boys has been withdrawn from the professions and directed toward business. It has been seen that the chances of success—success consisting of something more substantial than the bubble reputation, which is usually the most the lawyer or politician can hope for, according to the popular idea—are better in business than in any other walk of life outside of agriculture. It has been learned, too, that business affords equal opportunities with the law for the display of the best talents, and that the share in affairs of the business man is greater than that of the lawyer, excepting, of course, in the cases of the very few. Experience of the uncertainties of politics as a profession and of the hollowness of political fame, have done much on the one hand to correct wrong ideas on the question of "a career," and the broadening of business methods and opportunities has done much on the other. Certain it is, that the number of young men preparing for professional life is proportionally much smaller than formerly, particularly in the cities.

Another reform in American sentiment is still to be accomplished. It is in relation to city and country life. By some unaccountable means we have, as a people, gotten rid of the good old English notion that the men of the soil are the men of the nation—perhaps because land is so plentiful and cheap. It is astounding that young men will leave the fairest opportunities of independence and even of affluence in the country as owners and tillers of the soil, to become dependent underlings—harshly disciplined, overworked and poorly paid—in the cities. The idea that there is about the business of the clerk or small store-keeper a gentility foreign to the independent business of agriculture is so unreasonable and absurd that it is impossible to understand how it originated. American good sense may safely be relied upon to effect a reform in this important matter.

All the towns through which the visiting party from the east, comprising the first train over the Northern Pacific, will pass on their way to Portland and Puget sound, will doubtless make some appropriate demonstration in honor of the event. The completion of the great railroad demands a token of recognition from all points touched by the road, and firing of guns, ringing of bells and display of colors, with the usual American accompaniment of speech-making, may be expected. Portland, from her rank and position, will be looked to by the country as the place which ought to take the lead in celebration of the great event. To make the demonstration as effective as possible, suspension of the regular course of business for a day would be desirable. The activity of a holiday would be an appropriate thing for the occasion.

The great extension of business within the past few years has developed within it hundreds of kinds of employment, each of which demands not only the best ability and thorough general mental training, but special qualifications. The business world, as well as the mechanics' world, is running to specialties. For example, the various business operations relating to the manufacture and sale of hardware have come to be particular employments calling for special training. A year ago, a young man recently graduated from an eastern college, was called to Oregon to conduct the business of an iron-working establishment, at a salary of $1000 a month. He has earned a particular business better than other men. Another young man, who knew more than other men about grain elevator systems, was called to Oregon to examine the situation here in reference to that business, and was paid more than $10,000 for two months' work. In every department of business now the men who have taken one thing, stuck to it and learned it thoroughly, are taking positions which are not excelled in the points of responsibility or reward by any professional position. Practically, many professions have grown up in business.

The statement that responsible parties have offered to build the Astoria road for the land grant and present the road after its completion to the company is received by persons representing the party of the second part with wild incredulity. THE OREGONIAN is assured that the company would only be too glad to accept an offer which would imply a gift of three millions of dollars. At present an effort is making to ascertain by actual survey whether in view of the nature of the country and the probable amount of traffic, with the land grant thrown in, it will be a sound business enterprise to undertake the construction of the road or not. If that be decided in the affirmative, construction will soon be undertaken and pushed to completion. If in the negative, the enterprise will be given up and the land revert without objection from the company to the public domain. Mr. Villard says the company, if it does not decide to build the road, will not attempt, as it does not desire, to hold the land.

A recent number of the London Economist enumerates the semi-annual dividends of the principal joint-stock banks in England, the lowest dividend per annum being that of the London and Yorkshire, which paid five per cent, while out of thirteen corporations, eight each paid ten per cent. or more, four paid each fifteen per cent. or more, and one, the Birmingham, paid twenty per cent. as it has during the past five years with entire regularity. Similar dividends says the Boston Advertiser, are common on the continent of Europe, while no great country on earth rewards banking and banking capital less than we do. And of all banks ours are probably the only ones the capital of which is held, not so much by the rich as by widows, orphans and trust estates. The day is fortunately past when demagogues denounced our national banks as a monopoly, but the time has not yet come when capital will be attracted by the dividends of our banks.

The south is ceasing to have any political principles which do not readily yield to a lively interest in "appropriations." For example in Louisiana this idea of "practical politics" finds illustration thus: "How do you democrats stand on the presidential question?" asked a Chicago reporter of Mr. McConnell, a leading citizen of New Orleans. "The personal preference of nearly all our Louisiana democrats is for Mr. Tilden," replied McConnell; "but," he added, "we are for no man who is not pronounced in favor of improving the Mississippi river."

The liquor ordinance introduced some time ago by Gerlee, city statesman and beer jerker, was rejected last night by the council, which also gave Mr. Besser leave to get his living without the city's help. The free whisky ring doesn't appear to be having matters all its own way.

By all means the council should order fire plugs put into the big main on Third street. It is impossible to set up too many safeguards against fire, particularly in a compact business quarter, built almost wholly of wood.

The tragic affair of yesterday morning in a resort of gamblers, pimps and thieves, is a strong argument for free whisky.

PRESS PITH.

"Come in out of dat hot sun, you Lafayette! De fust ting you know you'll be done burnt as brack as de niggers next doah."—Waif.

"Of all classes of bores," says the Louisville Courier-Journal, "the man with a grievance is the most tiresome and least excusable." Carry the truth to Greystone.—Boston Herald (Ind.)

The absence of telegraph operators recalls the story of the old darkey who, hearing the instrument suddenly begin to click while the operator was away, stepped up to it, and, putting his mouth close to it, shouted with all his power of lungs: "De oppahratah isn't h'yar!"

In his letter to Rev. Mr. P[illegible] of Boston, Judge Hoadly complained among other things, of the accusation that he was an agnostic. And now the Boston Post, eminent democratic authority, declares that "an agnostic is a man who would hesitate about betting on a straight flush."—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

The Bishop of Wurtzburg asked a little shepherd boy: "What are you doing my little lad?" "Tending swine." "How much do you get?" "One florin a week." "I am also a shepherd," continued the bishop, "but I have a much better salary." "That may be, but then I suppose you have more swine under your care," innocently replied the boy.—[illegible] and Parks of Europe.

"What was the trouble between you and another party, Mike, on the avenue last evening?" inquired an Austin citizen of his Hibernian porter. "Well, yer see, sur, it was a bit of hesitation on his part." "A bit of hesitation?" "Yes sur. You see I gave him the choice av my two fists, an' he seemed to hesitate, loike, an' when I see he couldn't make up his moind, I jist gave him the two av 'em for luck."—Texas Siftings.

"Dear me!" exclaimed a city girl who visited a dairy for the first time, "what queer looking stuff this is! It looks just like yellow paint. What is it?" "Why, that's cream on top of the milk, miss," said the dairyman. "Is that so?" she asked in astonishment. "Why, the cream I use always comes in boxes and has a label, so we can tell what it is." The farmer sat right down on the stone floor and fanned himself with a milk pan.—The N. Y. Dairy.

A Sunday school boy asked his teacher why Adam was created before Eve. He acknowledged that the question was one too many for him. On his way home, meeting a neighbor whose wife was credited with her full share of curiosity, he plumply put the conundrum to him. "That's an easy one," returned his neighbor. "If the Creator had made the woman first he knew very well that she would have done nothing but bother him with wanting to know what style of man he was going to make."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Hon. D. O. Durham will start his thresher on Monday, beginning at Charles Gesteel's.

Hon. A. Shook, Col. Wall[illegible], Wm. Campbell and Dr. Tuck have gone to the coast and the mountains rusticating.

Our town is overrun just now with cigarettes, traveling theaters, negro minstrels, etc., gathering all they can before fair time.

Esquire Harding has sold his residence in town to Mrs. P. A. Derr for $1700, and bought a house and lot of Capt. Handley for $70[illegible].

Quite a number have noticed the sun spots since THE OREGONIAN called their attention to it, with a moderate field glass. Others are visible.

Work was begun on the foundation of the new Baptist church to-day. It is to be [illegible] feet, with a gallery, and a seating capacity of about 400.

Corn, and some other garden vegetables, continue to grow. Corn does not even shrivel up in the heat of the day. It must be that the smoke has been a great benefit to Yamhill county in the absence of rain.

The following is a list of officers of McMinnville lodge, I. O. G. T., elected for the term: Mrs. M. F. Cooper, W. C. T.; May Eakin, W. V. T.; Mattie Todd, W. S.; Edward Howe, W. F. S.; Josie Hewitt, W. T.; Kate Nelson, W. M.; Lillie [illegible] guard, W. I. G.; [illegible] Fields, W. C. G.

Mrs. Edwards of Newberg lectured on temperance in the M. E. church at this place last Sunday evening, after which she organized a Woman's Christian Temperance union with Mrs. E. K. Harding president, Miss Lizzie Handly vice-president, Miss Mary Cook secretary and Mrs. Da[illegible] as treasurer.

The McMinnville fire department was out for drill Monday and Tuesday evenings. As the boys were running with the hose cart, a small lad endeavored to keep up by holding on behind and was thrown violently to the ground, receiving a bruised head which might have been more serious, as the cart was flying rapidly over a stony street. They have been pumping the water out of the C street cistern for repairs as it has been leaking badly.

REPRESENTATIVE MEN.

San Francisco Chronicle.

Eminent men in all the walks of life, have certified to the marvelous pain-conquering powers of the article named below. Thousands of the leading men of the nation endorse it as the greatest pain destroying and healing remedy in the world.

It is a true, tried and trusted friend, alike in the household, the workshop, the farm and in the stable. Not only in America but in foreign countries it has proved itself to be the safest, surest and cheapest cure for pain. For rheumatism, neuralgia and other painful ailments nothing can compare with it. At the New Zealand International Exhibition, held at Sidney, New South Wales, 1882, St. Jacobs Oil was awarded the highest prize for cures made during the exhibition. Among the distinguished men in their respective callings, who endorse St. Jacobs Oil are:

HON. JOHN C. NEW, Ass't. Secretary of the U. S. Treasury.
HON. THOMAS L. JAMES, Ex-Postmaster General of the U. S.
HON. BILLA FLINT, Life Senator of the Canadian Parliament.
HON. CARTER H. HARRISON, Mayor of Chicago, Ill.
HON. WONG DOON HING, Chinese Consul General, San Francisco, Cal.
HON. DANIEL W. VOORHEES, U. S. Senator from Indiana.
GENERAL RUFUS INGALLS, Quartermaster General U. S. A.
HON. WM. PINKNEY WHYTE, Mayor of Baltimore and Ex-U. S. Senator.
THE RIGHT REVEREND BISHOP GILMOUR, Cleveland, Ohio.
HON. THOMAS L. YOUNG, Ex-Governor of Ohio, and Ex-M. C.
HON. ODEN BOWIE, Prest. Maryland Jockey Club, and Ex-Governor of Md.
HON. MILTON G. URNER, M. C. of Md.
DANIEL MACE, Champion Double-team Driver of the United States.
COM. J. B. COGHLAN, U. S. N.
CAPT. PAUL BOYTON, the world-renowned swimmer.

The emphatic praise of such eminent men, is in itself sufficient to convince every one of the marvelous efficacy of St. Jacobs Oil. Millions of people in this and other countries have been benefitted by this magical compound.

CANADIAN BAZAAR.

Mr. John Osborne, Musical Bazaar, Toronto, Canada, writes that his wife is cured of rheumatism by the great pain-banisher St. Jacobs Oil; that he has found it so invaluable a remedy for many ailments.

CITY.

WELCOME SHOWERS.—At about 12:30 o'clock yesterday persons who were on the streets were surprised to see drops of water falling from the clouds, and in a moment a genuine shower of rain commenced falling, the first with which we have been favored for almost two months. In a very brief space the gutter spouts began pouring out a fluid much resembling chocolate in color and consistency, but with a different odor. Everyone was taken unawares and straw hats, summer clothing and their shoes were illy adapted to the circumstances, and, as for umbrellas, nary a one was to be seen, those useful articles having been laid aside so long that no one knew where to find them. Many sought the shelter of awnings, but some stood out and uncovered their heads and blessed the gentle rain, which falls upon the unjust and the just alike. A delicious coolness and moisture pervades the atmosphere most grateful to lungs so long tortured with smoke and dust. The shower only lasted about six minutes. At 2:30 a flash of lightning was seen followed by a peal of thunder, and a gentle shower again commenced falling which lasted for nearly half an hour. It was hoped that it would continue, but at 3 o'clock the weather vane on the signal service office was wagging its tail to the south, from which point only the rain could be expected, and then all said: "The rain is over." It was short and sweet like the gallop of the long-eared paternal progenitor of the mule. May we soon have more, is the prayer of all.

DELAYED BY SMOKE AND FOG.—The Astoria steamer Wide West, which should have returned to her dock in this city Tuesday evening, did not arrive until yesterday morning at 6 o'clock. She was delayed in leaving here Tuesday morning over three hours by the dense fog, which added to the smoke made the air too thick for navigation. Consequently she did not reach Astoria until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. She left an hour later on her return trip, having on board a number of our citizens who have been spending the greater portion of July by the sounding sea. Arriving at St. Helens, the smoke and fog again became so dense that the boat was made fast to await daylight. Al Raleigh, who was one of the passengers, was bringing up a lot of crabs and clams, and when the boat tied up was in a great quandary as to what he should do with his crustaceans and bivalves to keep them from spoiling. A friend suggested cooking them, which was accordingly done, and the fog bound party sat down to a delightful meal. The folks at home who were to have feasted on the crabs and clams enjoyed the story of how they were kept from spoiling very much.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.—Several members of Oregon commandery of Knights Templar have already departed for San Francisco, where they will attend the triennial conclave which begins about the middle of the present month. Those intending to make a pilgrimage should call at once upon the recorder for their return certificate, before it is too late. Oregon commandery has ordered an elegant banner from New York to be used at the conclave in San Francisco. It is the intention of the Knights to have the same consecrated before taking it below. The principal picture on the banner will be an oil painting of the Knights fighting for the standard. Beneath this will appear a smaller painting representing Mt. Hood, as taken from the steel engraving of Mr Ladd. The manufacturer of the banner in a letter to the recorder of the commandery here says: "Yours is the handsomest banner I have ever made. I think the little picture under the main one, Mt. Hood, is a perfect gem." Some sixty Knights have so far signified their intention to attend the conclave, a few of this number being from Montana.

WELL-BESTOWED CHARITY.—J. W. Davis, the unfortunate man who lost his home near Rooster Rock through forest fires, called yesterday for the $20 sent by the Montana railroad boys, to whom he desires to express thanks, and to all other contributors. He will be at the Metropolis hotel with his family until Saturday. Contributions can be left at this office or at the hotel. He will go back to his place next week. The Oregon and California land office granted a year's extension to pay a balance due on his purchase from them. County Judge Stearns inquired into Mr Davis' necessities and finding them to be all that was first stated and the man himself most deserving, made an appropriation out of the county funds for his benefit. Messrs. A. Frank, of which firm Mr Davis has long been a customer, also interested themselves in the matter and personally introduced him to several business men who freely contributed small sums. Other persons are [illegible] in donations of clothes for both the parents and children. It is pleasing to notice such generous charity when occasion requires.

"ONLY A SCRAP OF PAPER."—For the past two or three weeks Deputy County Clerk Wood has been engaged in summarizing the business of the county for the past year, spreading his figures over a large sheet of paper. The work was at last completed and Wood drew a sigh of relief as he folded up the sheet over which he had spent so much time and laid it aside till he should have a chance to make a clean draft. A little later an honest farmer came into the office, and having need of a piece of paper on which to draw a diagram of his farm to illustrate its advantages to an intending purchaser, seized the soiled looking sheet and bore it away in triumph, thinking it could answer his purpose but was of no account to anyone else. Wood discovered his loss a moment later, and the way in which he sallied out after that granger, and the yell he gave when he detected him in the act of tearing the precious sheet in two, were performances quite out of the usual style of the sedate deputy. The sheet is now safe under lock and key, and no stranger hands will get hold of it again.

TO-DAY'S TROT.—There will be a trotting contest at City View Park this afternoon, for a purse of $250, $125 to the first, $75 to the second, and $50 to the third. The race is for three minute class horses, best three in five, and the following animals have been entered: Kate Chitwood, an Oregon mare, entered by D. Bagley; Vaneta, the three-year-old that won last Sunday's race, owned and entered by J. Beach; Kitsie Lynn, owned and entered by George Misner; Jerry, a California horse, entered by Tip Geary; Billie Reed, by Autocrat, entered by Bryan; and Sunset, a California horse, sired by California Patchen, entered by McManus. Boats leave the foot of Taylor street for the park every hour during the afternoon. Next Sunday afternoon there will be a race for 2:40 class horses. Florence E., as well as Mt. Vernon, Sunset, Kate Chitwood, Billie Reed, Kittie Lynn and Jerry have already been entered for this race. On the same day there will also probably be a running race, half mile and repeat.

UNWILLING TO BE A CATSPAW.—When William Watkinds, now chief of police, went into the saddle and harness business formerly owned by Welch & Christensen, he held a chattel mortgage against Mr. Christensen. Suit was brought in equity to enjoin its payment alleging some sort of fraud in the transaction, and the case was referred to A. J. Sears, Jr. to look into. Now Mr. Sears has appeared in court and requested Judge Stott that he be relieved, stating that he was so politically bound up with Mr. Watkinds that he was unable to make a fair decision. After considering the matter

Appropriating $100 out of the general fund to pay for police department clerk, passed.

ENGROSSED ORDINANCES

To change and establish the grade of Lincoln street, passed.

Adopting report of city surveyor in the extension of North Twenty First street, passed.

Adopting report of city surveyor in the extension of North Twentieth street, passed.

Adopting report of city surveyor in the extension of E street, passed.

GERDES' LIQUOR ORDINANCE DEFEATED

After the clerk had announced that he had reached the bottom of the engrossed ordinances Honeyman inquired what had become of Gerdes' liquor ordinance.

Gerdes rose and after some hesitation during which he tried to think of some excuse to make, said that there was a conflict of opinion as to whether the new ordinance would annul the existing ordinance. If it should annul the present ordinance the city will be greatly the loser and he would very much regret such loss. In a voice trembling with suppressed emotion Gerdes announced that his only desire was to legislate for the benefit of the entire city and not for any particular class. He therefore asked as a special favor that action on the ordinance be postponed until the return of Judge Adams whose legal opinion he very much desired.

Honeyman opposed postponement. Some liquor dealers had paid the present license and he did not feel like making fish of one and fowl of the other and moved that the ordinance be read a third time and placed on its final passage.

Gerdes moved that action be postponed until the next meeting, lost by the following vote—Yeas Gerdes and Haley; nays Chittenden, Honeyman, Scoggins, Sears and Smith.

Honeyman's motion prevailed and on the third reading the ordinance did not get a single vote.

PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL

Gerdes moved that the council proceed to the election of a president of the body and nominated Councilman Adams.

The vote stood Adams 6, Honeyman 1, Haley 1. Adams was declared elected.

WANTED A VOTE RECONSIDERED

Sears moved that the vote by which Hair was confirmed captain of police be reconsidered. He voted for the confirmation under the impression that Mr Hair was someone else, and he was not ready to vote for Mr. Hair's confirmation.

The mayor, publicly acknowledging the dictatorship of Councilman Gerdes, asked of him: "Will you please tell Councilman Sears what you know of

STREETS AND SEWERS.

The New Street Commissioner's Report to the City Council.

Last night Mr. Alfred F. Sears, superintendent of streets, submitted the following communication to the council. It was referred to the committee on streets and public property.

To His Honor the Mayor and the Common Council of the City of Portland: Gentlemen,—The following observations are respectfully submitted in accordance with that provision of the law making it the duty of the Street Superintendent to report to the Common Council, from time to time, such suggestions and recommendations as to matters connected with his department as he may deem expedient."

RE-ORGANIZATION OF THE DEPARTMENT

By the charter last granted to the city of Portland the street department has been completely remodeled, making the office in charge the city engineer and placing under his responsibility many of the duties formerly pertaining to the city surveyor.

The additional requirements are stated in sections 77 and 78 of the new charter, and are as follows:

First—The superintendent of streets shall possess the qualifications of a civil engineer.

Second—All plans and specification for the construction, improvement or repairs of all public streets, squares, parks, grounds, highways, bridges, sewers and street lamps shall be made by him or under his supervision.

Third—All contracts for such work shall be filed by him in his office.

Fourth—He shall have supervision of all surveys of streets, squares and parks, and of all construction, improvements and repairs herein specified, whether such work be done by contract or otherwise.

Fifth—The surveyor shall make all surveys and estimates of city work which may be required of him by the superintendent of streets.

This is not a statement of all the duties of the street superintendent, but simply the duties superadded to the office by the new charter.

In accordance with the law a request has been made for all necessary data and documents to take charge of the plans and surveys and the answer of the city surveyor is now awaited.

HELP REQUIRED

As the work above named will much of it be still done by the surveyor under my direction, it is not deemed necessary to increase the working force of his department by more than the addition of one deputy, who shall be employed as a clerk and draughtsman in the office.

STREET CLEANING

An attempt has been made to enforce the ordinance requiring occupants and owners to clean the streets opposite their premises. The ordinance is generally disregarded and its enforcement is extremely difficult.

If the streets were cleaned throughout the nearly forty miles that have been improved and paid for by abuttors at the prices they claim to have paid wherever cleaning has been done, it would be a tax on citizens of more than $100,000 per annum. And when done the streets are not clean.

I venture to respectfully represent to the council that all the streets of the city may be cleaned in a creditable manner with the use of the improved machinery for the purpose, at a cost of $1000 to $2000 per month according to the character of the work done.

PAVEMENTS

Even these lesser of these two sums may be reduced by a rational treatment of the macadamized streets.

My attention has been several times, and by various persons, called to this character of paving.

It may be said generally that if a city street is required that will never need repair, or a street that will keep itself in repair under the traffic of heavy trucks or rapidly moving carriages, such a street has yet to be invented.

But there is no reason why our macadamized streets may not be as durable, and at the same time as agreeable as any streets in the world.

They are well built, and in the main of excellent material, but they receive absolutely no attention after they pass from the hands of the contractor into the use of the city.

Nor is it practicable for the occupants abutting to keep up the repairs.

All our macadamized streets should be thoroughly wet with the sprinkling carts at least twice a week in the dry season instead of sweeping the dust from their surfaces, and a roller should be placed at the disposition of the street department for use when required.

At the same time light brooms and rakes may be used for cleaning gutters, taking care to throw the loose stone into the middle of the street before the roller is applied.

GARBAGE

It is difficult to find places for depositing the garbage from the streets and gutters of the city. In the east this material is sought by persons having lots to raise, as equal to any and cheaper. But a small portion of the street sweepings consists of offensive or deleterious matter. There is no reason why it may not be deposited on certain portions of the hollow land north of Fort and except an ill founded prejudice on the part of property holders.

It is hoped that the railroad company will not object to its being deposited on their property in South lake, since the small proportion of perishable matter contained in its body will be compressed beneath a heavier material and afford a good foundation for all structures. The question has become a serious one for the city and demands attention.

MAP OF THE CITY

There is not a complete map of the city of Portland in any office of the city government.

I have therefore begun the compilation of such a map for the purpose of presenting a view of the public improvements in colors and for completing a system of sewerage much needed by the city.

SEWERS

While on this subject it is proper to say that while here is abundant danger from the escape of sewer gas into houses there is undoubtedly an exaggeration of the danger. Our sewers, so far as they are constructed are fairly ventilated though susceptible of improvement, but when with an abundant water supply they are properly flushed and a system of vents is once established at the head they are as healthy as need be.

They are doing mischief now, by draining into the Willamette river in front of the city and leaving a deposit of putrescence along the shore for the germination of disease, while we are drinking water during every Columbia river flood that contains the exhilarating gases of filth in solution.

DISEASE CHARTS.

I beg to invite the attention of the council to the expediency of preparing a set of disease charts for the city. Such charts placed in the office of the health officer to whom every case of zymotic disease is reported would enable this department to ascertain if the condition of sewers, streets or natural drains were the source or cause of disease and would lead to the proper correction while every position in life would receive a certain amount of protection from the knowledge of the disease center.

STREET SIGNS

Strangers visiting the city complain of the difficulty of finding our streets, which are not generally designated by signs. The street department requires additional authority to provide signs.

STREET RAILWAYS

I beg also to ask your attention to the damage done the streets by permitting double lines of railroad tracks, as for instance on Third street. Our streets at the widest, are none too wide, and perhaps, little advantage is gained by the railroad companies that might not be gained as well by occupying adjoining streets with an up and a down line.

Fourth street is occupied with a steam track that is employed in the service of the public enough to make the street of little value for other locomotion, while a dummy or other class of small engine running half hourly trips to the suburbs would refund the city some compensation for a loss, and if run as the horse cars are run, to accommodate all passengers at a low rate, would be an immense advantage to Portland.

STANDARD OF MEASURE.

There is no standard of measurement in this city, although long since ordered by the government. I respectfully ask permission to procure the only unit now existing here, namely, a United States standard yard in the hands of Mr. Burrage, formerly surveyor, which can be had for its cost price, with the government guarantee for $ 6

THE GAMBLER HOMICIDE.

CORONER'S INQUEST OVER THE REMAINS OF "JIMMIE" MOREY

Gambling Houses Closed and Gamblers "All Broke Up."—What the Prisoner Says—Crowds Gathering to View the Remains.

The killing of "Jimmie" Morey by "Billy" Acock in the Cosmopolitan gambling den early yesterday morning was the absorbing topic among the gambling fraternity yesterday. They hovered around the corner of First and Alder streets the entire day and in little knots of two and threes discussed in subdued tones the merit and demerits of the dead man and the actions of his slayer, both past and present. The faro games were all closed in respect to the dead man's memory, and the gamblers naturally adjourned to the corners to their usual place of debate and resort. A live gambler is worth a dozen dead ones, and Jimmie being beyond mortal aid, a disposition manifested itself among the majority of the sports of the pasteboard to help Acock out. His friends were profuse in declarations as to the justification of the act while Morey's companions were extremely quiet and said but little of the affair.

All day long Acock was visited at the city jail by his companions. He seemed to regard the situation lightly and to an OREGONIAN reporter said:

"It's astonishing what queer people come here and stare at me through the bars as though I were a caged beast."

"How about the shooting?" inquired the reporter.

"One of us two had to be killed. That fact was plain to forty men hours before the killing. If I had not shot him he would have killed me."

For some reason Acock was not arraigned in the police court yesterday, but he will have an examination this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Coroner's Inquest.

A coroner's inquest was held over the remains of Morey yesterday at 10 o'clock. The coroner summoned the following jurors: A. B. Stewart, G. V. Lowber, S. B. McMillen, A. Ferguson, Wm. Flake and T. M. Wright. The body was viewed by the jury and the taking of testimony immediately entered upon.

CHARLES STORNE'S TESTIMONY

Chas Storne was the first witness called, who stated that he was a seaman by occupation. Last night at the time this affair occurred I was standing at the left hand of the man that was shot. He was sitting down keeping the cases at the time, apparently a loser, and used abusive language to the keeper, calling him everything; a dispute was had over a $25 marker which he paid, but after paying it he again commenced his abuse upon the dealer, turning to the lookout he abused him. Acock was the lookout. Acock replied to him in kind and rose; the deceased put his hand behind him and started around where Acock was sitting. Acock rose and Morey made a pass at him and Acock then fired. Acock was standing on a platform and shot down on him. There was nothing in Morey's hands immediately after the firing. Acock went on. I tried to keep Jimmy (Morey) from getting to Acock. I recognize the deceased. He had no pistol in his hand at the time, fell immediately after being shot.

THE DEALER'S TESTIMONY

Harry Levy, the next witness said: I was conducting the faro game at the Cosmopolitan last night at the time of the shooting; the deceased was playing against the game and was very abusive, using the worst kind of language to both Acock and myself; he made a bet of $25 and lost; he then said $25 more; I remarked to Acock, "How is this?" Acock answered, "You are dealing." I told the deceased to put the amount on the table or the bet did not go; he answered, "It did not go if I owe you $25;" he then took $25 in checks from a man alongside of him and paid me; he then said, "I'll fix you," to me. Acock remarked, "I'll not stand it any longer;" the deceased answered "You cannot commence too soon," with that the deceased got up from his chair and drew a pistol from his back pocket and made a threat against Acock; some one took hold of the deceased, but could not hold him (I saw the pistol), at the same time making a break for Acock. Some one also had a hold of Acock with his hands towards deceased; the deceased put his arm around this man's waist; someone said "Look out." Acock then put his hand in his pocket and drew his pistol and fired from the platform, which is eighteen inches high and about two feet from deceased. He had a small pistol in his right hand; should judge it to be a nickel plated, of about 34 calibre; don't know what became of the pistol in Morey's hand.

DR. SAYLOR'S TESTIMONY

After unimportant evidence by other witnesses Dr Saylor testified and said that he made a postmortem examination on the body of the deceased, did not find any marks of violence except a gunshot wound on the head; ball entered the skull about one inch to the left of the median line in front and above one inch from the crown of the head; the ball passed downward and backward and to the right, passing through the skull just back of the right ear and lodged in the bone of the skull, where it was cut out; death must have resulted instantaneously.

THE VERDICT

Dr. Saylor's testimony completed the evidence taken before the jury, and after some discussion as to the justification of the deed it rendered the following verdict:

We, the jury find from the evidence that the deceased came to his death from a gunshot wound in the head made by a ball fired from a pistol in the hands of William Acock at the Cosmopolitan saloon, southeast corner of First and Alder. The coroner searched the clothing of the dead man but found no weapon of any description on his person.

The pistol used by Acock was exhibited to the jury. It is a weapon of formidable dimensions, being a 44 caliber Smith & Wesson. Two of the cartridges were found to have been exploded, the remaining chambers being still loaded.

After the inquest, at Mrs Morey's request the remains were conveyed to the undertaking rooms of De Lin & Co., where they at present lie. During the afternoon the undertaker was constantly besieged by persons desiring to view the body. Those who were apparently friends of the dead man were gratified, but many who were prompted only by morbid curiosity were turned away. Among those who viewed the remains was prosecuting attorney Caples, whose visit was made with a view to securing information to be used at the trial of Acock.

Morey's friends appeared to be touched with true sorrow for his unfortunate death. One man, as he stood with uncovered head in the presence of the dead gambler said (as a tear rolled down his cheek): "Poo Jimmie! Poor Jimmie! I've known him for years and a more peaceable or a quieter man never lived. It is sad to see a young fellow struck down in the prime of life." After gazing upon the features of the dead in silence for a few moments he added: "And there is a smile—a happy smile—upon his face, too!" Those who were present did not disabuse this fancy of the softened gambler, though in reality the features of the corpse were stamped with a grim and stern look.

Morey, at the request of his wife, will be buried this afternoon from the First Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Lindsley will deliver the funeral address over the dead gambler.

Colonel Effinger, an able criminal lawyer, has been retained as Acock's attorney. He has cautioned his client as to statements about the affair.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Leonard Grover Comedy Company, which will be remembered played an engagement in this city last winter, opened again at the New Market theater last night in "Our Boarding House" to a very fair house. The performance was very creditably given and was well received. Leonard Grover as Col. Elevator was only equaled by Leonard Grover Jr's part of Gillypod. These parts were the life of the performance and elicited several well deserved recalls. Francis Wyndham as Dr Shouter did his work neatly and aided the Grovers in bringing out some very laughable effects. Harry Osborn's Florence was well given his Italian dialect being good and he made up excellent. Amelia Waugh in Mrs Darlyple was excellent and in a very clever piece of acting throughout. Charles Norris as her son Walter spoke his lines correctly but the part could have been improved upon. Like that of Clara Rainford as Beatrice Manheim, the part lacked force and life. Prof Geo. Hazzold has brought suit in the state circuit court to compel A. Nicolai to give a deed for some property according to a bond now held by the former. The amount involved is about $4200. H. L. McGinn has been appointed referee in the matter.

Edward Murphy was indicted yesterday by the grand jury, arraigned in the state circuit court and to-day will plead to the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Murphy is the man who threw a beer glass at another, during a drunken row in the low dive on the corner of First and C streets.

Donald Dinnie's dumb bells weigh 205 pounds each, are lying in the hallway at New Market theater and attract a constant crowd of would-be athletes. Their enthusiasm (the enthusiasm, not the dumb bells) is easily suppressed by one lift at the huge balls of iron. One unbeliever remarked that no one had yet seen Dinnie lift the "two of them" over his head.

THURSDAY MORNING, AUG. 2, 1883.

THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

Why Mr. Arthur will be One of the [illegible] Republican Candidates.

[illegible] PROMOTED.

[illegible] a [illegible] though he would be the Strongest [illegible] Lincoln.

Correspondence of [illegible] Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, [illegible] who have ridiculed the idea of Arthur's succession in his own right will find an answer in the statistics presented by the New York Times on a recent morning. From early in Mr. Arthur's incumbency to the presidential chair it seemed to me he had set out with the idea of winning a place in the hearts of the American people, so that he might also win the presidency on his own account. It would be the first time in our history [that such] was possible to a vice president who came into the presidency by accident. I have talked recently with a number of leading politicians of the country, and will give a summary of their ideas. The circumstances which made Arthur president were such that a very bitter feeling existed against him personally, as well as against the faction he represented. This bitterness on both sides was so intense and uncompromising that it seemed little less than ridiculous that Arthur should have ever even entertained hopes of being his own successor.

We have passed over a wide stretch of political fields since the day when Mr. Arthur came down from Long Branch to take possession of the White House. There has been a radical change in public sentiment since then. I am not an admirer of the stalwart wing of the republican party, as you well know, yet I have been as nothing, somewhere about giving the devil his due, and without applying that term to his excellency, the president, my sentiment in favor of fair play inspires me to say there is a great deal due to President Arthur himself for this healthful change of sentiment. I think I predicted out very early in Mr. Arthur's incumbency that all this was likely to follow upon the line of a temperate administration of the duties of his office. That his administration has been temperate and of a tendency to improve and reform the civil service of the government, is beyond question. Not only that, but he has convinced the public that he is doing the very best he knows how to make a success in administration of public affairs. While I am not in favor of Mr. Arthur as a presidential candidate for the suffrages of the American people at the next general election, it is not necessary that we should close our eyes to the fact that Arthur has been steadily improving in the estimation of the general public. Wise politicians say that he stands to-day one of the strongest, if not the strongest candidate before the next presidential convention. Of course there are always artificial causes which combine to thrust an executive into prominence, but then it must be remembered these same artificial means have as often operated against the official as for him. In fact, they are a great deal more apt to prejudice the public opinion against him than they are to impress it favorably. This was seen in the second campaign of General Grant. Grant was individually strong but the character of his administration was such as to antagonize a great portion of the public against the idea of a second term. Grant's second campaign resulted in the most astonishing falling off of the party vote which had ever occurred in the history of the nation. In fact, the republican party from a two-thirds majority in both houses of congress, well-nigh went to pieces under the strain.

THE HARMONIC ERA.

In Arthur's case the public antagonism existed before he went into office and is rapidly dying out with his administration. In this he has disappointed a great many people—agreeably disappointed, let me say. It was predicted that Arthur would go out of office at the close of his term as the avowed enemy of both factions of the republican party, and with the friendship of nobody. The politicians say this factional fight is now at an end and has dwindled to mere nothingness. It exists only in Pennsylvania in shadowy form to-day, and even this shadow will be obliterated when the republicans carry the state, as they unquestionably will in the coming campaign.

While I was down in South Carolina this spring, in company with Judge David Davis, a conversation arose as to the probable consolidation of party factions in the coming presidential fight. Judge Davis, usually reticent upon all political questions, talked with me quite freely on this subject.

"There is no question," said he, "but what the success of the republican party depends wholly upon the question whether they will be able to unite forces in Pennsylvania and consolidate their cohorts in New York. Sometimes," continued the judge, "it seems to me that the rehabilitation of the republican party [in] time for the next campaign will be impossible. Where such great interests are at stake, however, men are apt to heal their differences for the time being and bury the lesser [illegible] while they are combating the great [illegible]."

"Do you think," said I, "[illegible] sides, that the republicans will [illegible] harmonize their differences?"

"It depends almost wholly upon [illegible]," said the judge. "He has it in his power to [illegible] in the [illegible] of public harmony [illegible] disposition of the appointing power. The president may heal the party wounds or he may tear open the old wounds afresh. He seems to be steering pretty clear thus far."

"Then you think, judge, that if harmony can be brought about in Pennsylvania and New York the greatest share of the credit is due to President Arthur?"

"I think so," said he sententiously.

A FRIENDLY FEELING IN THE SOUTH.

This incident brings to mind some conversations I had with southern politicians at the Charleston hotel. I found there a very friendly feeling toward Mr. Arthur. In fact Arthur had made more headway in the south among all classes than he had in the north. This is owing to the fact that there are no party factional differences in the south, and secondly, no personal bitterness. Perhaps a still more potent reason may be given—the federal office-holders south constitute the party. I am satisfied from all I have learned since that the south is favorable to Mr. Arthur on his own account. This is not only shown in the statistics gathered by the New York Times, but in a great many more equally important indications. The votes of the south in the republican national convention is an important factor which must be fully considered in figuring on the situation. It was that which John Sherman labored to obtain in pushing himself for the presidency as against Blaine and Grant. If Arthur can come into the national convention backed by the southern delegations as a rule and by a few exceptions in the north, he will be the most formidable candidate at the outset of any that can be brought before the convention. It is unquestionably a fact that Blaine to-day stands pre-eminently in advance of every other republican in the hearts of the people of the north. But Blaine's strength was his downfall in the last national convention, and Blaine's strength in the party is still enough to make his nomination impossible. In view of what the republican party has come to it would perhaps be a very poor policy to even put Mr. Blaine forward in the next convention. I know that Mr. Blaine himself thinks so. Blaine, as a presidential candidate, is a man of the past, and nobody knows it better than Blaine himself and his political friends. Nevertheless, could Blaine be chosen, I think he would make the strongest republican president who has occupied the presidential chair since Abraham Lincoln.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

One of the things in which the people feel confident that Arthur has put his best foot forward is civil service reform. The civil service reform law went into effect on Monday of this week. Civil service reform in fact has been in operation for upward of a year. The law refers to a few hundred petty clerkships and in their appointments there will be some change. Civil service reform in reality must always begin higher than the clerkships—it must begin at the executive mansion. Here the law can reach. Under the constitution of the United States only the sweet will of executive power can control the real civil service of the government. Without that will, in harmony with the constitution, the laws on that subject are of very little importance. Of all the public scandals that existed under the Grant regime, there were none of any importance among the officers who since that law come under the civil service reform law. The scandals originated and existed in that higher circle wherein the constitution reigns, and the president of the United States is king bee. So far I [illegible] Arthur has been eminently free from all gross scandals such as prevailed during Grant's regime. Arthur is guided by a wholesome fear of the newspapers, and the newspapers, corrupt though some of them may be, are in the main representatives of the people and in favor of virtue in public office. So clear has the Arthur administration been in this regard that the scandal raised over the displacement of a special agent in New England and the substitution of another by a new and somewhat brash commissioner of internal revenue has been made a national issue. I never saw so big a fuss raised over so small an affair as that which has attended the removal of Aldridge. It shows, however, the character of public sentiment. If such a row was raised over a little special agency, I do not know what would be said if one of the cabinet officers of Arthur's administration should go to speculating in [illegible] or one of Arthur's relatives should [be] hypothecating his name and reputation in [illegible] Wall street.

1,000 APPLICATIONS NEVER [illegible].

Speaking of civil service reform reminds me that there are hundreds and hundreds of pigeon-holes in every appointment clerk's room and in every department of the government which are full of recommendations to and applications for public office. There are probably 5,000 applications which have never been acted upon or have been acted on unfavorably and are now on file in a single one of the departments. All these applicants have ever realized out of their voluminous papers are printed letters containing assurances that their application has been received and will meet due consideration whenever a vacancy occurred. There are more than enough applications backed by political influence of the strongest character on file in the departments to completely restock the whole government with officials. These applications might just as well be withdrawn now, for they will soon be dumped into piles and sold promiscuously for waste paper. It is to be hoped that this is the last of political influence in the executive departments of the government. This I know, is the hope of the officials connected with these departments, regardless of whether they are in favor of or against civil service reform. There will be no more hungry [illegible] hanging around the ante-chambers of power with their constituents thirsting after petty clerkships. Usually, during the winter season there are about a dozen congressmen around every cabinet officer during his office hours. He can shut everybody out but the congressman; he can give everybody else the cold shoulder. But the congressman comes like the cholera and [illegible] during the winter season as regularly. Who can wonder at the joy of the public officer who has been harassed with applicants for places that did not exist, and with [illegible] or held the appropriations on [illegible]? While this reform by law of the petty clerkships of the government is a great humbug so far as real civil service reform is concerned, the peace that it brings to the department officials is "that great peace which surpasseth all understanding." I am told that a democratic congress will immediately proceed to overturn this state of bliss. If it does, the democracy will dig its own grave in a box.

Tom Fitch, Mark Twain and Joe Lane are credited with the origination of the saying that "the only good Indians are dead Indians," but probably no one of them is its real author. "Who struck Billy Patterson?"

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a [illegible] for all complaints peculiar to

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

WEDNESDAY, Aug. 1.

The first shipment of new valley wheat came in yesterday by the west side. It consisted of nearly two car loads, consigned to Everding & Farrell, and shipped by H. L. Deacon, Dallas, Polk county.

A gentle shower, accompanied by thunder and lightning, visited us to-day. Wheat in the valley generally is said to be as yet unfit for threshing, being unripe, and harvest will be delayed for a few days. An extended rain at this time would not prove a welcome visitor to all concerned, but light showers are refreshing and harmless. The arrival of three vessels, two under charter, begins to look like business was close at hand. The telegraphic advice reporting the arrival of fifty-five grain ships at San Francisco in twenty-four hours caused considerable comment to-day, but a second consideration proved its incorrectness. The blunder was doubtless due to the present telegraphic service. To-day's foreign wheat markets are quiet and inactive. Eastern and San Francisco reports have not reached us at this writing.

The local markets are quiet and show no quotable change.

Receipts past 24 hours have been 250 bbls flour, 882 ctls oats, 60 ctls millstuff, 38,478 lbs wool, 420 lbs hides, 95 bxs eggs, 43 bxs fruit, 3 bxs butter. Also 1,875 lbs wool, 340 bbls flour, 1879 ctls wheat, from [e]astern section.

[illegible] of the Pacific brought 399 hf, 180 bbls, [illegible] sugar, 20 kgs 1 hf syrup, 703 bxs soap, 25 sks 110 mats rice, 41 pkgs tea, 2453 sks salt, 5 hf pickles, 1 bbl 5 cs 172 sks coffee, 568 cs canned goods, 3 sks seed, 54 pkgs spice, 25 cs axle grease, 5 cs extract, 90 sks beans, 20 cs sauce, 1 sk sago, 56 tins matches, 91 cs soda and sal, 34 bls 5 bbls meal, 2 cs candy, 10 sks nuts, 11 cs codfish, 31 bxs crackers, 10 bbls vinegar, 35 pkgs raisins, 205 cs beef, 3 cs bacon, 1 sk 2 cs prunes, 31 cs cheese, 3 sks hams, 8 bbls 45 bxs butter, 100 sks oats, 263 sks gr barley, 2008 sxs feed, 132 bls bags, 68 bls bagging, 320 bbls cement, 30 pigs lead, 1041 kgs nails, 119 pkgs tobacco, 21 cs cigars. For Astoria she had 30 hf 8 bbls sugar, 10 kgs syrup, 2 bxs soap, 34 sks salt, 5 kgs pickles, 10 cs canned goods, 9 cs beef, 4 cs cheese, 1 tc 1 bbl hams, 2 cs 1 hf lard, 28 sks malt, 3 pkgs tobacco, 1 cs cigars.

The River Nith brings 1600 tons coal from Australia.

The C. S. Hulbert, for New York, took out 38,237 cs salmon, 4 kits salmon, 77,044 lbs wool, 2 cs candle fish, [illegible] bdl horns, 864 lbs mohair, 60,765 lbs dry hides, 14 bbls caviar, 6 cs drugs.

The Columbia sailed at 3:35 A. M. with 1000 cs salmon, 900 hf sks Kinney's flour, 216 sks valley (48,-278 lbs) wool, 99 sks (25,188 lbs) E. O. wool, 28,000 ft ash lumber, 11,586 ft maple lumber, 6 cs cassimeres, 2 cs 2 bls blankets, 1 bl flannels, 43,800 lath, 8 sks mohair, 2 sks goat hair, 31 dry hides, 13 calf skins, 27 bdls hf bbl heads, 125 bdls hf bbl staves, $24,0[illegible]1 treasure.

From the S. F. Commercial Herald we gather the following regarding markets there: Stocks of bags and bagging of every description are large and the demand surprisingly light, which is a great disappointment to all engaged in this important article of traffic. It is difficult to account for the present inertness. One would suppose from the immensity of our grain crops that containers would be in great and constant demand; but such is not the case, or if sales are made, prices are so low that sellers are afraid to make them public. Coffee quiet. There is an active, brisk trade in tobacco. There is now on the market an invoice of 3,008 bags sugar, each 130 lbs. Hongkong refined, four grades, to conform to those of our refineries with the exception of crushed and cube. It is now offered in market to the trade at ½c per lb less than the home article of corresponding grade. The quality of this sugar stands high in the estimation of consumers. Rice in good stock as regards East Indian, with fair demand. The Sandwich Island crop is now being harvested.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The Columbia took out 375 tons freight.

The Br bk Grasmere arrived at Astoria yesterday, ninety-five days from Sydney. She brings a cargo of coal to Balfour, Guthrie & Co., and is disengaged.

The Br bk Aberlemno arrived at Astoria Monday night, seventy-four days from Newcastle, N. S. W., with a cargo of coal. She comes to Balfour, Guthrie & Co. and is under charter for wheat.

The Br sh River Nith arrived at Astoria last evening sixty-seven days from Newcastle, N. S. W., with a cargo of coal to C. Cæsar & Co. She is under charter for wheat.

The three recent arrivals will come up river as soon as possible. They will all have to lighter more or less at St. Helens.

The Br sh Grisedale was reported outside yesterday. She has assorted cargo to Balfour, Guthrie & Co. and made the run from Liverpool in 114 days.

The Nor bk Cilciano was at Sydney June 14 for Puget Sound.

The Jennie Harkness made the run out in 142 days.

The Br sh Selene has arrived at Queenstown in a passage of 130 days.

A telegram from Cape Town states that the ship Freeman Clark, Calcutta for New York, before reported burned, is a total loss; nothing saved.

The Chil sh Lota is at Tacoma for a lumber cargo.

The sch Letitia sailed from Tacoma Thursday for Santiago with 100,000 feet of lumber.

As soon as the vessel now on the stocks at Port Ludlow is launched, the Puget Mill Company will commence the construction of a hull for a tug boat to eclipse anything in the way of speed and power ever brought to Puget Sound. The large compound engines to drive this tug along have been ordered built in the east, and the boilers will be constructed of the very best steel at Port Gamble. The new craft will be a propeller, and will be longer, wider and more powerful than the tug Tacoma, of which Puget Sounders have been so proud for the past few years.

BABY'S WARNING.

When baby has pains at dead of night,
Mother is in a fright, father in a plight;
When worms do bite, baby must cry,
If fever sets in, baby may die.
If croupy pains fill Lee-nbra,
In that house there's no Castoria.
For mothers learn without delay,
Castoria cures by night and day.

PERFECT IN FORMATION.

SAFE IN APPLICATION.

SURE IN OPERATION.

HEALTHFUL IN EFFECT.

These statements are not too strong to apply to an article which will with certainty preserve all kinds of food, whether fish, flesh or fowl, in all climates and under all conditions.

"REX MAGNUS"

The Humiston Food Preservative,

will do this without fail. There have been many worthless compounds offered to the public which have entirely failed to make good their pretensions but REX MAGNUS, after the most rigorous tests in which it has been entirely successful, has received the hearty endorsement of scientific and business men.

Try It and be Convinced.

You can test at a trifling cost. You do not have to buy a costly recipe or county right. If your grocer or druggist does not keep it, we will send a sample, prepaid, by mail or express, as we prefer. Name your express office.

Cheap in Price—Simple in Use.

"Tiamine," for meats, poultry, etc., 50 cts per lb. "Ocean Wave," for oysters, lobsters, etc., 50c. "Pearl," for cream, $1. "Snow Flake," for milk, butter, etc., 50 cts. "Queen," for eggs, $1. "Aqua Vitæ," for fluid extracts, etc., $1. "Anti-Ferment," "Anti-Fly," and "Anti-Mold," 50 cts per lb. each.

Put up in 1 lb and 5 lb. cans and in 25 lb. boxes. Directions for use are so plain and simple that a child can follow them.

The Cost is Trifling.

For a pound of meat, fish, butter or cheese, for a quart of milk or a pint of oysters, the cost of the preservative required will not exceed one cent. This places it within the reach of all. It never fails. Mention this paper.

VITAL QUESTIONS.

Ask the most eminent physician of any school, what is the best thing in the world for quieting and allaying all irritation of the nerves and curing all forms of nervous complaints, giving natural, childlike, refreshing sleep always? And they will tell you, unhesitatingly "Some form of Hops!"

CHAPTER I.

Ask any or all of the most eminent physicians: "What is the best and only remedy that can be relied on to cure all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs, such as Bright's Disease, diabetes, retention or inability to retain urine and all the diseases and ailments peculiar to Women?" And they will tell you explicitly and emphatically, "Buchu."

Ask the same physicians "What is the most reliable and surest cure for all liver diseases or dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, biliousness, malarial fever, ague, etc.?" and they will tell you: "Mandrake! or Dandelion!"

Hence, when these remedies are combined with others equally valuable And compounded into Hop Bitters, such a (Concluded next week.)

Preventive and Cure, for either Sex.

This remedy being injected directly to the seat of those diseases of the Genito-Urinary Organs, requires no change of diet or nauseous, mercurial or poisonous medicines to be taken internally. When taken as a preventive by either sex, it is impossible to contract any venereal disease; but in the case of those already unfortunately afflicted with Gonorrhœa and Gleet, we guarantee 3 boxes to cure or we will refund the money. Price by mail, postage paid, $2.00 per box, or, 3 boxes for $5.00. Written guarantees issued by all authorized agents. Dr. Felix Le Brun & Co. Sole Props. WOODARD, CLARK & CO., Authorized Agents, Wholesale and Retail Druggists, PORTLAND, OREGON. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention.

TO MEN

All men who from indiscretions, excesses or other causes are weak, unnerved, low spirited, physically drained, and unable to perform life's duties properly, can be certainly and permanently cured, without stomach medicines. Endorsed by doctors, ministers and the press. The Medical Weekly says: "The old plan of treating Nervous Debility, Physical Decay, etc., is wholly superseded by THE MARSTON BOLUS." Even hopeless cases assured of certain restoration to full and perfect manhood. Simple, effective, cleanly, pleasant. Send for treatise. Consultation with physician free. Swift's Specific has been the means of bringing health and happiness to thousands who were pronounced incurable of Blood and Skin Diseases.

HEAR THE WITNESSES!

Saved from a Horrible Death.

Up to May last I had spent at least five hundred dollars for treatment by many of the best medical men, without any benefit. I suffered excruciatingly, and all my best friends advised me that the sky and of death was fast approaching. I caught at S. S. S. like a drowning man at a straw. After taking two bottles I could feel a change for the better. The ulcers began to discharge freely and the inflammation to abate. When I had taken six bottles every sore had healed and my skin began to assume a natural appearance. I persisted until I had taken twelve bottles large size, and THERE IS NOT A SYMPTOM OF THE DISEASE REMAINING. I feel as well as I ever did. I have gained twenty-one pounds in flesh, and my friends wonder at my improved condition. I have recommended it to many, and in every instance with complete success. I believe that S.S.S. has saved me from a terrible death. H. SMILEY.

I am sure that Swift's Specific saved my life. I was terribly poisoned with Malaria, and was given up to die. Swift's Specific relieved me promptly and entirely. I think it is the greatest remedy of the age. C. G. SPENCER, Supt Gas Works, Rome, Ga.
